Thirty-three Million Pounds worth of Irish money is sent abroad every year to buy piece goods, apparel, etc., from the Foreigner.

Women of Ireland, at least one half of this is your work, and we are sure you will agree with us that it must discontinue. If even one quarter of this appalling sum were spent in your own country, think of what wealth and work it would bring to Ireland. The remedy is in your own hands. Buy nothing but Irish cloths, and refuse to be put off with plausible and inferior substitutes. We are the oldest and largest Manufacturers of Dress Goods in Ireland, and make everything from the soundest and most fashionable Tweeds to the finest Serges, Coatings, Gabardines, Venetians, Whipcords, Voiles and Cashmeres, in the most beautiful colourings that can be produced. Ask your Draper for Dinsmore Dress Goods, and insist on getting them.

DUBLIN MAN'S REVOLVER.

PROSECUTION AT LLANDUDNO

At Llandudno yesterday, Arthur Leslie Coy, of North Circular road, Dublin, was charged with having in his possession a revolver and ammunition, without a certificate from the Chief Constable of Carnarvonshire, under the Fire-arms Act.

Mr. Coy was spending a holiday at a boarding house at Llandudno. From information which came to the knowledge of the police, he was asked if he had firearms in his possession, and, taking the constable to his bedroom, he handed him a revolver, which he said he had bought from a British soldier. He at first denied having any ammunition, but later a few rounds were found in his trunk.

To the magistrates he explained that he had been for twenty-two years a booking clerk on the Great Southern and Western Railway of Ireland. After a raid upon a Dublin booking office where he was employed, when money was taken away by armed men, he was advised to obtain a weapon with which to frighten off raiders, but he had never used it. When he left Ireland on his holiday he took the revolver with him, because if there had been a raid upon his home, and it had been found, or if his mother herself had found it she would have been needlessly alarmed. He admitted denying that he had any ammunition, but said that he was confused at the time.

The revolver was a French one, and the ammunition did not fit it properly.

The Dublin Police confirmed Mr. Coy's statement. The case against him was dismissed, the revolver and cartridges being confiscated.

YESTERDAY IN THE LAW COURTS.

A COLLISION.

PLAINTIFF'S ACTION DISMISSED.

Mr. Justice Dodd, sitting without a jury yesterday at the King's Inns, dismissed the action brought by John Heeney, car-owner, Dundalk, against Messrs. O'Hagan brothers, motor agents, also of Dundalk, to recover damages for personal injuries, and for injuries to the plaintiff's hackney car and harness by reason of the alleged negligence of the defendants' servant in the driving of a motor car on the 25th of January last when, on the public road near the Great Northern Railway Station, the motor car and the hackney car came into collision.

Surgeon McArdle and Dr. Clarke were examined for the plaintiff; and Sir Lambert Ormsby and Dr. O'Hagan were examined for the defendants. Mr. McArdle said that the worst that was the matter with the plaintiff was a varicose vein that was in a very inflamed condition. There was no physical injury, and the man's condition was the result of a bad shake.

Mr. Justice Dodd dismissed the action on the ground that there was no evidence of negligence on the part of the defendants, and also that there was no evidence that the plaintiff suffered any damage as the result of the accident.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna and Mr. J. Bartley (instructed by Messrs. Boyle and Hearty) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., and Mr. C. S. Campbell (instructed by Messrs. O'Hare and O'Hagan) appeared for the defendants.

THE LOSS OF A HUSBAND.

WIDOW'S ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

At Nisi Prius, before Mr. Justice Pim and a city special jury, the hearing concluded of the action in which Mrs. Flora Jeannette Trotter, widow and administratrix of the late Major W. J. Trotter, formerly of Caltrim Lodge, Summerhill, Co. Meath, sued Messrs. Wallace Brothers, Ltd., coal merchants, of 23 Westmoreland street, Dublin, to recover damages laid at £10,000 for loss caused to her and other dependents of Major Trotter by his death on the 7th November, 1921, owing to the negligence of the defendants, their agents and servants in the driving, management, and control of a motor lorry.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna, K.C., Mr. Lardner, K.C., and Mr. Fergus O'Connor (instructed by Messrs. Brown and McCann), appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Lynch, K.C., Mr. Sealy, K.C., and Mr. St. L. Devitt (instructed by Messrs. Gerald Byrne and Co.) for the defendants.

It appeared that the late Major Trotter wrote to Messrs. Wallace Brothers ordering ten tons of coal to be delivered by tip lorry, and informed them that the lorry could not come into the yard. Messrs. Wallace contracted to supply the coal by lorry and to go as near to the coalhouse, which was situated in the yard, as was safely practicable. The coal was sent to Caltrim Lodge by a steam lorry, and when it got near the yard, which was approached by a winding avenue, the stoker got down off the engine and proceeded to direct the driver in approaching the gate, which was only a few inches wider than the width of the lorry. An attempt was made more than once to go through the gate, and the engine driver had to go back. On the last occasion the lorry struck the pier of the gate, and knocked down the pier and portion of the adjoining wall. The debris struck Major Trotter, who was standing in the yard seven feet from the pier, fracturing his skull and breaking several ribs.

The jury found for the plaintiff, and assessed £2,000 damages to Mrs. Trotter, and £750 to her son David.

HORSES FOR GREECE.

CORK DEALER'S ACTION.

Judgment was given yesterday in the High Court of Appeal for Ireland in the case of O'Driscoll v. Panagoulopoulos, which was an action by the plaintiff, a County Cork horse-dealer, against the defendant who had been purchasing horses in Ireland for the Greek Government. The defendant bought 52 horses from the plaintiff, and for some reason or another a question arose as to payment. The plaintiff obtained a verdict from a Dublin jury for £1,682, and the defendant appealed. The Court of Appeal in Southern Ireland dismissed the appeal, and declined to disturb the verdict.

The High Court heard this appeal on the 17th and 18th of May, and they now dismissed it with costs. The Court ordered that the £1,500 which had been lodged in Court by the defendant should be paid out to the plaintiff within a fortnight, if the defendant within that time did not give notice to take the case further.

Mr. H. D. Conner, K.C., Mr. P. Lynch, K.C., Mr. T. Sullivan, K.C, and Mr. H. J. Moloney (instructed by Messrs. Bass and Co.) appeared for the plaintiff.

Mr. Serjeant Hanna, Mr. E. S. Murphy, K.C., and Mr. Dockrell (instructed by Messrs. Findlater and Co.) appeared for the defendant.

INSURING A HORSE.

A COMPANY'S ACT OF GRACE.

In the High Court of Appeal for Ireland, before the Lord Chancellor (Sir John Ross), Lord Justice Andrews, and Mr. Justice Dodd, the appeal of John C. Sullivan against the Yorkshire Insurance Company was in the list for hearing yesterday.

When the case was called, Mr. Brown, K.C., said that the Court would not be troubled with it as the parties had come to a settlement. The present appeal was from an order of the Court of Appeal in Southern Ireland which reversed the decision of Mr. Justice Powell. The action was brought by the plaintiff, a well-known gentleman living in the County Meath, against the Insurance Company for the rectification of a policy of insurance taken out by the plaintiff insuring him against loss, by death or injury, of a stallion, Zria (sire of a Grand National winner) his property. The plaintiff asked Mr. Justice Powell to strike out of the policy the words, "Nor shall be operated on without the consent of the owner." The horse was, as a matter of fact, injured during an operation, quite accidentally. He had warts on his legs, and for the purpose of removing them, which is quite a common operation, the horse was "cast," and in that act his back was broken. Mr. Justice Powell gave a decree for the plaintiff, rectifying the policy as asked for. The Court of Appeal reversed that order, and from that this appeal was taken. The parties have since considered the matter, and they agreed that the decision of the Court of Appeal should stand, and that each party should abide their own costs. The original order was a decree with costs. The Court of Appeal reversed that and gave the defendant company their costs, both in the Court of Mr. Justice Powell, and in the Court of Appeal.

Mr. Battersby, K.C., with whom were Mr. Lardner, K.C., and Mr. Devitt (instructed by Messrs. Geo. D. Fottrell and Sons) for the Insurance Company, said—As this appeal has been withdrawn, I am instructed by the Company to say that they fully recognise the loss which Mr. Sullivan has suffered owing to having paid a premium of £210 for which he got no value whatever. The Company have nothing but good-will towards Mr. Sullivan, and I am instructed to say that, as an act of grace, they will return to him the £210.

The Lord Chancellor—That is very handsome.

Lord Justice Andrews concurred.

Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., Mr. Herbert Wilson, K.C., and Mr. Rearden (instructed by Messrs. O'Keeffe and Lynch) appeared for the plaintiff.

"FREEMAN'S JOURNAL" COMPANY.

In the Chancery Division yesterday, before Mr. Justice Samuels, in the matter of the Companies' Acts and the Freeman's Journal, Ltd. (the old Company),

Mr. S. L. Brown, K.C., (instructed by Messrs. Casey, Clay and Collins) applied on behalf of Mr. David Telford, the official liquidator, for an order that he might be at liberty to take such proceedings as he might be advised for the recovery of the call now outstanding and unpaid, and to compromise or abandon any claim in respect of the calls, where he was satisfied on evidence or otherwise, that the claims should be compromised or abandoned, and that he might be at liberty to exercise his discretion in respect of them. In an affidavit, Mr. Telford stated that at the date of the winding-up order the capital of the Company consisted of £125,000, divided into 10,000 Preference Shares of £5 each, all of which had been fully paid; and 15,000 Ordinary Shares of £5 each reduced to £4, upon which £3 per share had been paid. The Court, in July, 1921, made an order that a call of £1 per share be made upon all the contributors of the Company, and the total of that call would be £15,000. Of this latter sum he had collected £8,641 6s. 8d., leaving a sum of £6,358 13s. 4d. outstanding. His opinion was that in some cases efforts should be made to recover the money, but in many instances it would be fruitless. In some cases the shareholder was dead, and the estate had been actually wound-up many years ago and the funds distributed. In other cases, he had found the contributors anxious to pay, but were unable to do so, and, in such cases, he recommended the best possible compromise be entered into. Counsel suggested that there was nothing for it but to leave the matter in Mr. Telford's discretion.

Mr. Justice Samuels agreed, and made an order accordingly.

Mr. Brown said that the next part of the application was that the official liquidator be at liberty to pay to the creditors of the Company found by the Chief Clerk an ad interim dividend of 4s. in the £ out of the funds standing to the credit of the matter, pending the final realisation of the outstanding assets. In an affidavit, Mr. Telford stated that that would absorb £7,192, and leave a balance of £5,543 for the payment of a further dividend to the creditors, for his own remuneration and costs incurred by him. The claims proved against the estate amounted to £35,960.

Mr. Justice Samuels granted the application.

Mr. T. G. Quirke appeared for the receiver and manager in the Debenture holders' action

SALE OF ATHLONE PREMISES.

In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Samuels, in the case of Paul and Vincent, Dublin, v. McCormack, an application was made on behalf of the plaintiffs for an order accepting an offer of Mr. Thomas Carty of £1,218 for the licensed premises, Nos. 9 and 11 Mardyke street, Athlone, together with the dwelling-house and out-offices attached. The plaintiffs, it was stated, were mortgagees of the premises, and they regarded the offer as the best that could be got at present. Mr. Carty, who was the manager of the licensed premises, had previously agreed to purchase the premises at £3,000, and lodged a deposit of £750 with the auctioneer, but he had been unable to carry out the purchase. It was also stated that the National Bank were mortgagees whose claim had priority, and that Mr. Carty had a considerable claim for salary due to him.

The application was opposed on behalf of the Receiver, with a request for an adjournment, on the ground that the offer was inadequate. It was also suggested that, in the event of an increased offer not being made, the £750 should be brought into court, and another sale of the premises ordered.

Mr. Justice Samuels made an order adjourning the case for a fortnight, stating that, if Mr. Carty did not increase his offer, he was afraid the deposit would be forfeited.

Mr. Devitt (instructed by Messrs. William Findlater and Son) appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. Russell (instructed by Mr. Seddall) for the Receiver; and Mr. Goff for Mr. Carty.

A SOLICITOR'S ESTATE.

In the Chancery Division, before Mr. Justice Samuels, in the matter of the estate of the late Mr. Frederick Kennedy, solicitor, deceased, Kennedy v. Kennedy,

Mr. A. V. Matheson (instructed by Messrs. Collis and Ward) applied on behalf of Mrs. M. Allen for an order of ejectment against Mrs. Mary Louisa Kennedy, widow of deceased, in respect of that portion of the deceased's estate called Frascati, Blackrock, Co. Dublin, which consisted of two or three houses, held under a lease dated 4th April, 1885, subject to a rent of £136 14s. 6d. per annum. Mrs. Mary Louisa Kennedy was living in one of the houses, and had been residing there since the late Mr. Frederick Kennedy's decease. Another portion of the premises was in the occupation of a Mr. McKinley, an assignee, at an apportioned rent. There was a total of £184 6s. 6d. due by Mrs. Kennedy, less income tax and rates when paid. No income tax, it was stated, had been paid for two years, and there was some rent due by Mr. McKinley. Mrs. Kennedy had sent them £45, which they refused to accept and returned to her. Mr. Matheson admitted that there was some difficulty on both sides about adjusting the different amounts due and arriving at a satisfactory solution in the matter.

Mr. Justice Samuels made the order sought, with costs, putting a stay upon it till the 2nd of August.

NEWS SUMMARY.

IRELAND.

On Monday morning Dail Eireann troops arrested five men of the Executive forces who, it is said, were searching a train at Drogheda.—(P. 5.)

Yesterday the Parliament of Northern Ireland passed a vote for £1,711,765 for the salaries and expenses of the Special police.—(P. 6.)

The body of an unknown man, who is believed to have been an ex-policeman, was found in a field near Mallow on Monday evening. He was shot through the head. He visited the Mallow district on Saturday, and on Monday morning was kidnapped.—(P. 5.)

The Provisional Government has issued a manifesto in which it calls upon the people to co-operate with it in measures that are to be taken for the restoration of order.—(P. 5.)

At the Railway Commission yesterday Mr. Neale, of the Great Southern and Western Company, said that the companies would like to pay high wages, but they could not continue at the present rate.—(P. 7.)

GREAT BRITAIN.

Lord Carson, in the House of Lords last night, made a strong appeal for Government assistance for refugee members of the Royal Irish Constabulary.—(P. 5.)

The question of a general election next month on the question of Ireland was canvassed yesterday at Westminster.—(P. 5.)

In the House of Lords yesterday the Earl of Midleton moved to lay papers on the table relating to the Government's policy in connection with the Genoa Conference. It was complained that Parliament was not sufficiently informed. After a long discussion the motion was withdrawn.—(P. 5.)

ABROAD.

M. Litvinoff was pressed yesterday at The Hague Conference to indicate Russia's requirements in the matter of credits, and what guarantees she could offer to investors. The Soviet delegate said that he would want to know first what credits were to be offered and by which countries.—(P. 5.)

A Welcome Promise.

Mr. Churchill says that Southern aggression is mainly responsible for the disorders in Belfast. Nationalist newspapers reply by putting the blame on Northern intolerance. No controversy on this subject can be profitable. The important question is not, "Who began it?" but, "Who will end it?" The lamentable state of Belfast can be reformed only by the united efforts of both Irish Governments. The Northern Government must suppress outrage with a heavy and impartial hand. The Southern Government must guarantee the Northern State's freedom from Southern attack, and before it can give such a guarantee it must be master in its own house. That, as we showed yesterday, is the conviction of the minority in North-East Ulster, who, surely, are the best judges of their own interests. The Northern Roman Catholics, therefore, will welcome with special satisfaction the official statement which is published to-day on behalf of the Provisional Government. Indeed, it will be welcomed throughout the length and breadth of Ireland; for it is a promise that, at last, the Provisional Government intends to govern. The elections have given the new Parliament a mandate for the restoration of order, but already that mandate is being defied. The Provisional Government now announces its firm purpose to safeguard the persons and property of all law-respecting citizens. Incidentally it says that the "Belfast boycott" has no legal existence and cannot be pleaded as an excuse for robberies and raids. The Government is the custodian of the nation's material welfare. It notes with growing alarm the effect of the present insecurity on trade and industry, and it is resolved to restore normal conditions without further delay. We must suppose that in making these promises Mr. Collins and his colleagues are assured of their power to fulfil them. They have issued a challenge to the forces of lawlessness, and the fate of Ireland hangs upon the outcome. If their resolution and the machinery of law prevail, they will have made a great contribution to national peace and progress and to the establishment of good relations with Northern Ireland. The official statement invites all citizens to co-operate actively with the Government in its plans for the public safety. If the invitation proves to be sincere, the response will be eager and ample. The elections expressed the people's mind. They are waiting for a lead.

Genoa and The Hague.

The arrival of the Russian delegation at The Hague has been the signal for the re-opening of the whole question of Britain's European policy. In the House of Lords yesterday the Earl of Midleton criticised the Government's attitude very severely. He complained that important despatches had been withheld from the public. Nobody knew France's real objections to the Genoa Conference. Nobody knew why the Government of the United States had refused to take any part in it. As a result of official secrecy, Lord Derby asserted, all kinds of rumours had been set on foot. The French public believed that M. Poincaré had agreed to send delegates to Genoa only because Mr. Lloyd George had offered France a semi-military alliance as the price of her compliance with the Genoa policy. Viscount Grey said quite frankly that the Genoa Conference had contributed nothing to European progress. In view of the imminence of the gathering at The Hague, he laid particular stress on the necessity of an understanding between Britain, France and the United States. Until those three Powers should find some sort of common ground no material progress could be made towards peace. The first essential was agreement between Britain and France. If they were at one, America would join them.

The Earl of Balfour defended the Government's policy, but confined himself to the terms of Lord Midleton's motion, which referred solely to the publication of certain documents. The Government, undoubtedly, has made mistakes in the conduct of foreign relations; but all fair-minded men must admit that its position has been exceedingly difficult since the Armistice. On the one hand, France has been pressing for the adoption of a policy which would stereotype the existing condition of affairs on the Continent. On the other hand, the British people have been clamouring for a trade revival. Millions of men are out of work. Factories are idle. Markets are stagnant. The most prosperous country in the world has been drifting into poverty since the Treaty of Peace was signed at Versailles. America not only withdrew her help from Britain, but began to demand payment of the debt which the Allies had incurred during the war. Obviously, the British Government, in the circumstances, was forced to make a difficult choice. If it accepted the French policy without question, it must be prepared to face the certainty of a further depression of industry and further domestic distress. The price was too high, and Mr. Lloyd George decided to pursue the policy which led to Genoa and The Hague.

It may not have been the best possible policy, although it hardly has had time to bear fruit yet; but it has represented an honest attempt to restore economic stability to Europe. Contrast it with the policy of M. Poincaré. He has adopted an attitude of blank negation which admits of no constructive compromise. Any scheme of European reconstruction which does not acknowledge the sovereign existence of Germany and Russia is hopeless. While they remain outside the circle of Powers which have charged themselves with the reconstruction of the Continent, every effort to foster trade and improve international relations must be doomed to failure. M. Poincaré would condemn them to eternal isolation. Neither Britain nor Italy, therefore, can make common cause with the French until a more moderate view prevails in Paris. The Entente, of course, is essential to the world's peace, and no pains must be spared to maintain it unimpaired. Hitherto, however, Britain has made all the concessions. France has not yielded on a single important point. True friendship, between nations as between men, is based on mutual forbearance; each must give as well as take. In spite of Mr. Lloyd George's many blunders, France's most ardent champion cannot deny that he has done everything in his power to meet the wishes of M. Poincaré. Apparently he has failed, but he cannot be expected to cancel The Hague Conference on that account.

Atlantic Speed.

Mr. Frank A. Munsey, the American newspaper-owner, said recently that he regretted the abolition of what he termed "five-day passages between New York and London." As a matter of fact, five-day passages never were made. Passages in four and a half days were advertised and made; but the Atlantic was measured from Daunt's Rock, a long distance west of Queenstown, to the Ambrose Channel, twenty-four miles outside New York. Before the war the Mauretania had averaged 26.06 knots. She averaged 25.29 knots on her last trip, which is the world's post-war record. The Aquitania has an average speed of 24 knots an hour. These ships recently exchanged coal for oil, and probably are not yet at their top speed. The size of ships has outgrown the facilities of ports, and tidal conditions at Cherbourg and Southampton force the largest liners to enter and leave these ports only at certain stages of the tide. The missing of high tide may delay a steamer for eighteen hours. "The greater the speed the greater the cost," is an axiom known to all marine engineers; but mails and a certain class of business men will continue to demand speed in trans-Atlantic travel. On the other hand, large numbers of passengers who travel for pleasure prefer the slower vessels. On this latter type of steamer the voyage, if one is not sea-sick, resembles a pleasant house-party. The shorter time and the atmosphere of hurry prevent the traveller from "settling down" on an ocean greyhound.

American Politics.

Friends who understand each other do not need to speak often of friendship. The many words which have been spoken and written about Anglo-American and European-American friendship suggest incomplete understanding. The foreign policy of the United States is conspicuous by changes. The fact is not due to bad faith, but primarily to changes in personnel and policy. These changes are caused by "politics," which change with the varying fortunes of the parties. One party makes a foreign treaty; the other party repudiates it or regards it lightly. National policies and honour are obscured by party strife and inspire no confidence among the nations. The people of the United States, by tradition and by inclination, are opposed to what they term "foreign entanglements." They hesitate to assume obligations which might involve them in what they call "European squabbles." Knowing little of the age-long hatred and aspirations of European peoples, they regard energy expended on protection against hereditary enemies as criminal folly. Although they wish to dictate disarmament, the United States refuse to play the part of international police, even with the help of England and France, since the adventure would incur more risks than profits. It is not surprising, however, that, having had a part in winning the war, America should seek privilege and place, even though she shirks responsibility.

Dublin's Water Supply.

Summer time in Dublin always brings the Borough Surveyor's water-warning. Its intensity increases with repetition, like the tax-collector's notices. The year's first warning, which we print to-day, is a gentle reminder that the city's resources of water are not inexhaustible and that the recent rainfall has been slight. In May of 1921 the local rainfall was 1.73 inches; last month it was less than half of that amount. The present level at the Roundwood reservoir is twelve inches higher than it was a year ago. On the other hand, the recent fall has been more rapid and consumption has increased. If the coming weeks bring plenty of rain, there will be no danger; but a dry July and August may involve the risk of famine. We hope that the Corporation will keep the citizens well informed and will take time by the forelock in any precautions or reductions that may become necessary. Last year suburban householders refreshed their gardens liberally from Roundwood up to the moment when they were asked to abstain from baths. In the present year, if a real shortage comes, the closing of the taps ought to be a more gradual affair.

DISBANDED REGIMENTS.

POSITION OF OFFICERS AND MEN.

Brigadier-General Surtees asked the Secretary for War in the House of Commons if he would state how many men of the disbanded Irish regiments are entitled to pensions, and what will be the aggregate value of such pensions to officers and men; whether efforts have been made to secure work for them or positions of trust, and if as a condition of granting such pensions they have been asked to take the oath of allegiance; whether steps have been taken to prevent any of them from joining the Irish Republican Army, and if any of them have been invited to join units of the British Army.

Colonel Stanley—The disbandment of these units does not involve the compulsory retirement or discharge of all the individuals composing them. The only officers who will be compulsorily retired prematurely are the officers who are retrenched as surplus to the general requirements of the Army, and the only soldiers who will be compulsorily discharged prematurely are the special short-service men, who are discharged under the terms of Army Order 181 of last month. Officers and soldiers of these categories will be compulsorily retired and discharged respectively throughout the Service as a whole, whether the units to which they belong are disbanded or not, and will receive the special compensation authorised by Army Order 179 and 180. The remaining officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the disbanded units will be offered the option of continuing in the Service by transfer to other corps, and the non-commissioned officers and men who do not accept such transfer will receive the special compensation authorised by Army Order 180. I cannot at present give the figures asked for in the first and second parts of the question. As regards the third part of the question, steps to assist the retrenched officers to find work are under consideration. The answer to the fourth and fifth parts is in the negative, and to the last part in the affirmative.

DUBLIN WATER SUPPLY.

DANGER OF SHORTAGE.

Although the rainfall during the end of last week was infinitesimal, it is regarded as a godsend by those responsible for the city water supply. During May of last year the rainfall amounted to 1.73 inches. Last month the fall registered was .66 inches or one-third less than that for the corresponding period last year. Last week's rainfall was very small, and on Saturday the quantity registered amounted only to .14 inches.

At Roundwood at present the level is 12 inches higher than it was at this time twelve months ago, but on inquiry at the office of the Deputy Borough Surveyor (Mr. Moynahan) an Irish Times representative was informed that the fall was more rapid. Unless, therefore, the long-continued drought is broken by a saturating downpour, there is some danger of a shortage in the water supply. After the dry spell of last season, many streams failed to fill normally during the winter, and with another period of drought following on this the result may prove serious for the community if householders do not conserve the present supply.

There is no immediate occasion for alarm, but a notification has been sent to the townships and to public concerns to reduce the consumption of water as much as possible.

There has been a big increase in the consumption of water as compared with a year ago, due to the fact that people are not so careful as they were during the shortage scare. The Corporation are making every effort to control the situation, but in order to succeed, it is essential that they should have the co-operation of every user of water. The position is much better than it was in the abnormally dry years of 1893 and 1919, but care will be needed to prevent it from becoming as bad if the drought should continue.

In the country the effects of insufficient moisture are evident in the burnt appearance of the grass. Foliage generally has a parched appearance, and crops are badly in need of a fresh stimulus.

IRISH CIVIC JUSTICE.

In the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Churchill, in answer to Colonel Newman, said that His Majesty's Government recognised the difficulty in which many persons were placed owing to inability in present circumstances to collect rents and other debts due to them in Ireland. This difficulty was not a new one, and it had been a symptom of all periods of disturbance in Ireland, and could only be made to disappear by the removal of the cause from which it arose—namely, by the restoration of orderly and resolute government. His Majesty's Government thought it right to give a further opportunity to the Provisional Government to effect such a restoration, and in the meanwhile they did not feel that the time had come to take any exceptional measures to deal with this as distinct from other evils arising out of the present state of disorder in Ireland.

Colonel Newman—Is not the right hon. gentleman aware that in former times, no matter how bad they were, we always got British decrees in Ireland, and could carry them out?

Mr. Churchill said that he had nothing to add to his answer.

Colonel Ashley—What is the exact position of these so-called Republican Courts under the present arrangements? Are they legal or not?

Mr. Churchill—No, they have no legal status at all, and they are not recognised in any official sense by the Provisional Government.

Colonel Ashley—Are we to understand that there are no Courts functioning of any kind in the Free State, where a law-abiding citizen can go and recover debts or damages?

Mr. Churchill—I believe there are two Courts functioning in the Free State, which interfere with each other, which reverse each other's decision, and generally bring the whole system of civic justice into utter confusion and contempt.

Colonel Ashley—When will the right hon. gentleman write an opera on this subject, on the lines of Gilbert and Sullivan? (Laughter.)

LONDON LETTER.

IRELAND ON TRIAL.

59 FLEET STREET, LONDON,
TUESDAY NIGHT.

Satisfaction at the action of the Provisional Government in ordering the arrest of one of the raiders of a Dublin garage was increased by the fact that it was taken before yesterday's debate and division. Whether it was completely spontaneous, or was decided upon as the result of the message from the British Government, which was despatched from the Colonial Office on Saturday and, presumably, reached Dublin on the following day, is not known for certain. If Mr. Collins and his colleagues acted on their own accord, so much the better, as it would show that they had at last recognised the impossibility of tolerating a dual control.

They have, no doubt, many difficulties to face, as is shown by the kidnapping of Lieutenant-General O'Connell, and they will require continuous support from Irish public opinion to enable them to hold to the straight road on which they have now entered, and not to return to the devious paths of hesitation and doubt which lead nowhere. But they must surely at last have discovered that, as one of the papers remarks to-day, "the business of even a Provisional Government is to govern."

It must be confessed that they have not hitherto had a very good example in this respect from the Imperial Government, whose Irish policy has in the past been a woeful exhibition of vacillation and uncertainty. That has been partly due, as regards recent times, to a quite laudable desire not to embarrass the Provisional Government, or to press it too far or too fast. But it is also due to the fact that a Coalition always has great difficulty in making up its mind, and that this particular Coalition is headed by a chameleon-like statesman who, as Lord Hugh Cecil remarked in his incisive speech at the close of last night's debate, approaches every question not with the single-minded desire to do what is right, but with anxious speculations as to what will be the effect on this or that body of opinion.

MR. BONAR LAW.

I am afraid that this unstable reputation has had much to do with the existing difficulties in Ireland. But let no Irishman be misled into supposing that he can safely count upon a similar weakness and uncertainty in the future. The Government has been rudely awakened, first by the dreadful crime of last Thursday, and secondly by the speech delivered by Mr. Bonar Law last night. That was a plain intimation that the Government had exhausted the patience of its best friends, and that if there was any more condonation of breaches of the Treaty, it would have to go. Mr. Law's promise to vote for it on this occasion was followed by the unmistakable threat that another failure on its part would send him and his friends into the Opposition Lobby.

The regular Opposition was conspicuous by its absence. Mr. Asquith was in the House for a short time during the early part of the debate; but, though he is more responsible than any other still active politician for the present state of Ireland—for it was under his administration from 1916 to 1918 that Sinn Fein was allowed to grow up—he never attempted to take part in the discussion, and did not even take the trouble to vote.

This attitude of caution—which some people would call pusillanimity—was imitated by most of the "Wee Frees" and Labourites, though it is only fair to say that many of the latter had gone to Edinburgh for to-day's Labour Congress. A few, however, voted with the Government, and one Independent Liberal, Mr. Lyle-Samuel, went into the aye Lobby with the minority.

It was Mr. Lyle-Samuel, by the way, who asked the Prime Minister last night if he was giving the Provisional Government a time-limit. Mr. Lloyd George excused himself then from giving details, but he mentioned that whatever developments occurred in Ireland would occur "within a very short period of time—certainly within the time when the House will be in session."

FURTHER DEBATES.

This afternoon the Prime Minister, in dealing with the business of the House, pointed out that the House would have to sit well into August, a date beyond that anticipated, and added that it might have more work to do in connection with Ireland, apart from the autumn session. In a week or a fortnight it was possible, though he hoped that it would not be necessary, that the House would have to discuss Irish matters. No question was put as to the Irish matters to be discussed. The House took it for agreed that they would follow on the speeches of the Prime Minister and Mr. Churchill last night.

There was a rather poor attendance of members to-day after the excitements of yesterday, and the question list was comparatively tame. The Prime Minister was present during the latter part of the question hour, owing to the absence of Mr. Chamberlain, who is suffering from a severe chill. Mr. Churchill, looking very grim, answered the Irish questions, and said that his attention had been drawn to the fact that three Irish soldiers home on leave had been ill-treated, and he was making inquiries of the Provisional Government. He made the announcement that the committee set up to consider the case of the Irish refugees, under the chairmanship of Sir Samuel Hoare, might be enlarged, so that it could cover all the cases submitted to it. He also pointed out that there was no reason to assume that the number of refugees from Ireland was increasing. The committee had had only three hundred applications to deal with in three weeks.

A question regarding the four loyalists kidnapped from Pettigo brought forth the statement that the number of kidnapped people, not from Pettigo alone, was twenty to twenty-five, and that questions were being addressed to the Provisional Government on this point. British troops held a number of men in their place, and they would be released when the loyalists were returned.

SIR HENRY WILSON'S TOMB.

A long queue of people waited outside St. Paul's Cathedral this morning until the crypt was opened, in order that they might pay a visit to the tomb of the late Sir Henry Wilson. The grave is placed between those of Lord Roberts and Lord Wolseley, and would have been next to that of Lord Kitchener had his body been recovered. Once the crypt was opened a quiet and orderly procession was formed and slowly passed by the grave, which was draped with a Union Jack.

OLD SALOPIAN DINNER.

The seventeenth triennial Old Salopian dinner will be held at the Wharncliffe Rooms Hotel, Great Central, Marylebone road, London, on Tuesday, July 11th, Mr. E. B. Moser in the chair. Application should be made to Aubrey T. Lawrence, 1 Essex Court, Temple, London, E.C. 4.

AIDE-DE-CAMP GENERAL TO THE KING.

The King has approved the appointment of Lieutenant-General Sir T. L. N. Morland, K.C.B., Colonel of the Suffolk Regiment, to be Aide-de-Camp General to His Majesty, with effect from 1st July, 1922, in succession to Sir C. C. Monro, Bart., Colonel of the Queen's Royal Regiment (West Surrey).

MARSHAL FOCH.

ROYAL DUBLIN SOCIETY

OUTRAGES MUST CEASE.

GOVERNMENT'S CALL TO THE PEOPLE.

HELP TO ENSURE SAFETY.

THE PROTECTION OF LIFE AND PROPERTY.

The Provisional Government has issued a manifesto, in which it calls upon the people to "co-operate actively with it in the measures that it is taking to ensure the public safety and to secure Ireland for the Irish people."

Grave acts against the security of the person and property, the manifesto points out, have been committed by "persons pretending to act with authority." Outrages against the nation and the Government "must cease at once, and cease for ever."

"It is the duty of the Government, to which the people have entrusted their defence and the conduct of their affairs, to protect and secure all law-respecting citizens without distinction, and that duty the Government will resolutely perform."

The manifesto refers particularly to the raid on Messrs. Ferguson's garage in Baggot street, Dublin, and the kidnapping of Lieutenant-General O'Connell, Assistant Chief of Staff.

OUTRAGES MUST CEASE.

GOVERNMENT'S CALL TO THE COUNTRY.

The following statement was issued last night by the Provisional Government:—

"Since the close of the General Election, at which the will of the people of Ireland was ascertained, further grave acts against the security of person and property have been committed in Dublin and in some other parts of Ireland by persons pretending to act with authority.

"It is the duty of the Government, to which the people have entrusted their defence and the conduct of their affairs, to protect and secure all law-respecting citizens without distinction, and that duty the Government will resolutely perform.

"Yesterday one of the principal garages in the metropolis was raided and plundered under the pretext of a Belfast boycott. No such boycott has any legal existence, and, if it had, it could not authorise or condone the action of irresponsible persons in seizing private property.

"Later in the same evening Lieutenant-General O'Connell, Assistant Chief of Staff, was seized by some of the persons responsible for the plundering of the garage, and is still held in their hands. Outrages such as these against the nation and the Government must cease at once, and cease for ever.

"For some months past all classes of business in Ireland have suffered severely through the feeling of insecurity engendered by reckless and wicket acts, which have tarnished the reputation of Ireland abroad. As one disastrous consequence, unemployment and distress are prevalent in the country, at a time when, but for such acts, Ireland would be humming with prosperity.

"The Government is determined that the country shall no longer be held up from the pursuit of its normal life and the re-establishment of its free national institutions. It calls, therefore, on the citizens to co-operate actively with it in the measures it is taking to ensure the public safety and to secure Ireland for the Irish people."

GRAVE SITUATION.

WELCOME SIGN OF FIRMNESS.

Mr. Churchill's speech was the main topic of discussion in political circles in Dublin yesterday. It is certain to have its effect on the situation here, and the position has now become critical.

It is clear from the statement issued last evening that the Provisional Government intends to deal with the situation firmly, a decision which will be hailed with satisfaction by all the responsible elements in the country.

Developments of a far-reaching character are expected after the Constituent Assembly meets on Saturday. In the interval, however, anything may happen. All hopes of agreement between the two sections of the I.R.A. have now been dispelled, while the breach between the leaders of the political parties is daily becoming wider. The project of a Coalition Government has been shattered by the results of the elections.

The statement of policy which is to be made on Saturday, when Mr. Collins will deal with Mr. Churchill's speech, is being eagerly awaited.

There was a conference yesterday between Mr. Griffith and Mr. Collins, and it is understood that the Westminster debate was discussed at length. The seizure of the Assistant Chief of Staff of the Regular Forces was, no doubt, under discussion, as it is regarded as an event of grave import.

No indication as to the attitude which Mr. de Valera and his followers will assume towards the Constituent Assembly has yet been given.

NORTHERN PREMIER

PLEASED AT MR. CHURCHILL'S SPEECH.

Sir James Craig, Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, was interviewed by a number of Pressmen at Stormont Castle yesterday, and in the course of conversation expressed satisfaction with Mr. Churchill's speech.

He was sure, he said, that Mr. Churchill was speaking as he thought. It confirmed in every way the private conversations he had had with him from time to time on the whole subject of Ulster. "I don't want to say," added Sir James, "on the whole subject of Ireland. I very seldom speak of the Irish situation; I always confine myself to Ulster."

Sir James' attention was drawn to Mr. Churchill's statement that the Roman Catholic minority suffered 100 per cent. more than Protestants, and he said:—I think that, like many others, Mr. Churchill hardly realises that aspect of the question. Take, for instance, what occurred at Cushendall. The attack there came from the Roman Catholics. Four of them were killed. A sum in addition would put those four Roman Catholics into a wrong category. The same remark applies to the murder of the resident magistrate on the steps of the Cathedral at Newry. In other words, nothing is more unfair than to add up the number of Roman Catholics that are killed and the number of Protestants that are killed and then to put the blame upon those who belonged to the religion different from that of the majority who are killed.

What religious feud, for instance, was involved in the murder of Mr. Woulfe Flanagan, R.M., where I.R.A. men came across the border and killed the Roman Catholic magistrate on the Cathedral steps? That could not be called religious. We had two valuable policemen in Belfast, Roman Catholics, killed by the I.R.A. simply because they were loyal police officers. That again is wrongfully put down to the "Orange mob." There is no such thing as an "Orange mob," and there is no such thing as organised reprisals on Roman Catholics.

I have dealt with that subject over and over again, and those who talk of a "pogrom" in the North against Roman Catholics are those who want to see a "pogrom" take place.

The impressions in England that the disturbances were due to religious differences was absolutely incorrect, and only those who were totally ignorant or who wilfully misrepresented the situation put that construction upon it.

CAUSE OF TROUBLE.

The cause of the trouble in the North was that in the South of Ireland the Republicans wanted to coerce Ulster in order to bring about the downfall of the Northern Government. Those Republicans had in mind that by their terrorist methods they were able to get rid of Great Britain from the Southern territory. Those methods would not have the slightest effect in Ulster.

Sir James then went on to speak of the new Border experiment. It was an entirely new thing in the Empire, there being no parallel for it. An experiment was being tried, which, if successful, might be extended. Two and a half miles on the Ulster side of the Border, in the Kesh-Pettigo-Belleek Garrison salient, and two and a half miles on the Free State side would form a neutral zone. That zone was delineated by townland boundaries, so that local inhabitants would know which townland was in one area and which in another.

GENERAL KIDNAPPED.

ACTIVITY AT FOUR COURTS.

A grave situation has developed in regard to the position of both sections of the Irish Republican Army.

Following the arrest of Commandant Henderson, of the Executive Forces, during the raid on Messrs. Ferguson's motor garage in Lower Baggot street on Monday evening, Lieutenant-General O'Connell, Assistant Chief of Staff, Beggars' Bush, was kidnapped on Monday night. The first intimation of the affair was the receipt of a telephone message by the Chief of Staff at Beggars' Bush Barracks from the Four Courts to the effect that they had captured General O'Connell, and were detaining him as a hostage pending the release of Commandant Henderson and the men arrested in Drogheda while searching a train for Belfast goods.

The following official statement was issued in connection with the affair from the Publicity Department, G.H.Q., Beggars' Bush, last night:—

"Lieutenant-General O'Connell, Assistant Chief of Staff, who had been in Dublin for the week-end on Army business, was kidnapped at about 11 o'clock on Monday night while proceeding in uniform and unarmed from a friend's house in Leeson street to Beggars' Bush Barracks.

"It is understood that General O'Connell was removed to the Four Courts, where he is at present detained."

General O'Connell, who has been in charge of the Curragh, is a native of Sligo, and took an active part in the formation of the Irish Volunteers.

There was much activity at the Four Courts yesterday. The occupants were busily engaged in erecting barbed wire barricades and in other ways strengthening the defences. Numerous lorries containing troops from Beggars' Bush and other city barracks were observed in the streets, and it was obvious that something unusual was in progress.

Regular troops are still in possession of Messrs. Ferguson's garage, but business is being carried on as usual. Sixteen motor cars were removed by the raiders, and only two have been returned up to yesterday evening. An estimate of the losses suffered by the firm is stated to amount to £9,000. Machinery to the value of £500 and accessories of a similar value were also removed. The allegation that the firm is connected with Belfast is denied. The only connection it has with Belfast is through its branch there.

PROVISIONAL PARLIAMENT

TO ASSEMBLE ON SATURDAY.

The following notice appeared in last night's Dublin Gazette:—

RIALTAS SEALADACH NA hEIREANN
(Irish Provisional Government).
IRISH FREE STATE (AGREEMENT) ACT, 1922.

MEETING OF THE HOUSE OF THE PARLIAMENT TO WHICH THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT IS TO BE RESPONSIBLE.

THE House of the Parliament to which the Provisional Government is to be responsible will assemble at the Theatre of the Royal Dublin Society, Leinster Lawn, Kildare street, Dublin, on Saturday, the 1st day of July, 1922, at the hour of 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of answering the Roll, after which the House will proceed to the election of a Speaker, and the discharge of such other business as may be decided.

DIARMUID O hEIGCEARTUIGH,
Secretary to the Provisional Government.

TEN DAYS' TRUCE.

APPEAL BY LORD MAYOR OF BELFAST.

The Lord Mayor of Belfast has made an appeal for a ten days' truce in the city. Speaking at a special meeting of the Corporation yesterday, he referred to his visit to London to attend the funeral of Sir Henry Wilson. Lady Wilson said to him, "I trust his death will benefit the future of Ireland."

"From that moment," said the Lord Mayor, "I made up my mind to make one more appeal to the inhabitants of Belfast. Many times during the last two years I have appealed for a cessation of the strife and turmoil with which we have been afflicted. Occasionally that appeal has been listened to and good has resulted. But lawlessness again breaks out, bad feeling is engendered, and the trade and prosperity of the city suffer. I venture to make another appeal to all creeds and classes.

"It is to ask, first, those who are Protestants, Unionists, or loyalists, out of respect to the memory of the late Sir Henry Wilson, and secondly, all Roman Catholics, who very often complain that those of their religion are the objects of attack—to ask every one in fact to refrain for the next ten days from all acts of violence and disorder and from all burning and looting. It is a bold request to make. God grant it may be received in the spirit in which it is made."

NOTHING TO SAY JUST NOW.

Mr. Collins on being asked by representatives of the Press yesterday whether he had anything to say with regard to Mr. Churchill's speech declared that he would reserve his remarks on this and other matters until the assembly of the new Dail.

SIGNIFICANT ANSWER.

Replying to Mr. Locker Lampson in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Lloyd George said that the House might be called upon to discuss the events in Ireland perhaps in the course of a fortnight.

PALESTINE MANDATE.

Speaking at Bolton, in connection with the jubilee of the Church of St. Peter and St. Paul, Cardinal Bourne referred to the Palestine question. He said that so far from objecting to the mandate for Palestine being given to the British Government the Holy See welcomed it, recognising the fairness and justice of Great Britain in dealing with such questions; but the Holy See objected to the proposals in the Draft Mandate, which would give to the Zionists, or newly imported Jewish population of the Holy Land, a privileged position over those who belonged to other races and religious beliefs.

Surely the whole object of the mandate was that Great Britain should teach the Syria population to govern themselves, and not render them incapable of self-government for ever. This was a matter which concerned the whole of Christendom—every nation in Europe, and it was absolutely certain that unless the mandate to be given to Great Britain next month for the Holy Land was wisely and justly and prudently conceived and applied there would be a terrible conflict in that country.

AN APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY.

QUESTION CANVASSED IN LOBBY.

IRELAND THE ISSUE.

The possibility of a general election next month was canvassed at Westminster last night. It would be an election on Ireland (says the Lobby Correspondent of the Central News), the issue to be put to the people being whether they would give the Government a mandate to make war on the Irish Republican Brotherhood and Army.

This current in the political atmosphere is running very definitely. It depends on a presumption, which may not be justified by events—namely, the presumption that the Provisional Government will be unable themselves to conquer the unlawful Republican activities.

If Messrs. Collins and Griffith and their colleagues are able to govern, there need be no general election on this side. But if events in Ireland should make it evident that they are failing to govern, then it is believed that the Imperial Government would be compelled to act.

A period of three months is thought by some members to be not unduly long to give the Provisional Government; but many other members think that it would prove impracticable to wait so long if the conditions in Ireland do not show real authority to be residing in the Provisional Government.

Mr. Bonar Law has made a big difference to the political situation. If he makes up his mind in a few weeks that it is time to launch a manifesto the Government would be bound, in their own interests, to go to the country, or suffer a great split.

Nothing in the policy here foreshadowed is anti-Treaty. War on Ireland would assuredly not be the issue, but only war on the disturbing and irreconcilable elements blocking the way to peace and orderly government.

MILITARY ACTIVITY IN DUBLIN.

TROOPS MOVE TOWARDS FOUR COURTS.

Members of the Irish Republican Army were on the streets of Dublin in the early hours of this morning, stopping vehicles and pedestrians and searching them for arms. An armoured car was stationed in Sackville street for some time, with a lorry of soldiers, carrying rifles, a short distance away, and commanded all passing traffic. In other districts similar operations were carried on during the morning.

Shortly before 2 o'clock firing was heard, but could not be accurately located, and inquiries made from official quarters failed to elicit any explanation of the cause.

At 2.45 o'clock a party of soldiers—about 300 or 400—carrying rifles, and followed by an armoured car, marched in open formation through Westmoreland street and Sackville street, and proceeded in a northerly direction. They were followed by a further detachment accompanied by ambulances.

The regular I.R.A. troops which passed along Sackville street were accompanied by two military ambulances. One party turned into Abbey street and another into Henry street, from both of which localities an approach can be made to the back of the Four Courts.

An armoured car joined the Regular forces.

This morning an armoured car and a motor car were stationed outside the Four Courts, where about 80 men in civilian clothes were engaged with picks and shovels, apparently preparing trenches.

By four o'clock a bomb was heard in the direction of the Courts, and its report was followed by fierce outbursts of machine-gun and of rifle fire. At short intervals more bomb explosions and more volleys were heard. The firing was still active at 4.30.

DAIL TROOPS TAKE ACTION.

EXECUTIVE MEN ARRESTED.

On Monday morning, about 11 o'clock, five members of Executive I.R.A. forces, who are stationed at Millmount, Drogheda, were, it is said, searching a goods train at Drogheda Station when a party of the Regular I.R.A. arrived on the scene, surrounded the station, and arrested the five men.

The prisoners were conveyed to West Gate, where they are at present detained.

Word was conveyed by telephone to West Gate that the raid was in progress, and immediately a number of men turned out, rushed to the railway station, and found the five men in a wagon. The men were disarmed and brought away under a guard. Subsequently one of them was conveyed to Mountjoy. It is believed that the others will be tried by court-martial.

GARRISON DISLODGED.

A sensation was created in Limerick yesterday evening when armed Regular I.R.A. forces converged on a house in Upper Harstonge street to dislodge an armed party of men who had taken forcible possession on Monday of the building, which was recently purchased for the purpose of a mechanics' institute. The occupants failed to comply with an order to evacuate the place, and it was surrounded by troops, but, through the intervention of a Roman Catholic clergyman and the officer commanding the Executive forces, the garrison consented to withdraw. The incident attracted large crowds.

KIDNAPPED AND SHOT.

EX-POLICEMAN'S FATE.

On Monday evening the body of a man, who had been shot through the head, was found in a field at Killavullen, Mallow.

At the inquest yesterday, when a verdict of death from gunshot wounds, not self-inflicted, was returned, the deceased man was described as "unknown."

He is believed to have been an ex-R.I.C. man, who was at one time stationed at Mallow, and is believed to have returned there on Saturday.

On Monday morning he was kidnapped and taken away in a motor car.

RAILWAY DISASTER.

MANY KILLED AND INJURED IN BERLIN.

A Reuter's Berlin telegram says that at least 29 persons were killed, 55 seriously injured, and many others slightly hurt in an accident on the Berlin Suburban Railway yesterday.

The Times Correspondent in Berlin telegraphs:—

A serious accident occurred at one o'clock this afternoon on the Berlin Metropolitan Railway. The trains were exceptionally crowded owing to the large numbers of people who were coming away after witnessing the Rathenau funeral ceremony. A train was running between two stations in the North of Berlin, with people standing all along the footboard, when another train passed it going in the other direction with a carriage door on the inner side swinging open. Scores of people were swept off, several falling under the wheels of the carriage. Fifteen were killed, and sixty others have been injured.

LABOUR CONFERENCE.

TRADE UNION ACT AMENDMENT BILL.

The twenty-second annual conference of the Labour Party was opened at Edinburgh yesterday morning.

Mr. F. W. Jowett was elected President of the conference. In the course of his address, he said that at home the steady economic pressure, partly by the loss of our foreign trade, to which should be added the loss of the purchasing power of our workers, had produced stagnation in industry. Capitalism, on the other hand, was more powerful than ever, and was making use of its power to destroy the defences of organised Labour. It was the capitalist class which gave spectacles of senseless display at race meetings, Royal levées, and Royal weddings. The workers paid for the vulgar orgies of the well-to-do.

The conference adopted a resolution expressing indignation at the attempt being made through the Trade Union Act Amendment Bill to interfere with the right to political action.

RECONSTRUCTING EUROPE.

GOVERNMENT POLICY CRITICISED.

LORDS AND SECRET DIPLOMACY.

DEMAND FOR MORE INFORMATION.

Complaint was made in the House of Lords yesterday that Parliament had not been sufficiently informed as to what took place between the various Governments of Europe and America after the Supreme Council meeting at Cannes and prior to the Genoa Conference.

Noble lords said that without American co-operation European reconstruction could never be accomplished. The various conferences were useless. Conferences were arranged, and then the nations were invited to participate. That was starting at the wrong end.

The question of German reparations hung like a cloud over the political and economic situation, and would have to be discussed and settled before anything else could be achieved.

AMERICA AND GENOA.

THE DECLINED INVITATION.

The Earl of Midleton initiated the debate by moving that there be laid before the House any correspondence which took place between the British Government and the Governments of the United States, France, Italy, Germany, and Russia, with reference to the Genoa Conference between the adjournment of the Supreme Council at Cannes and the meeting of the Genoa Conference, and any formal Notes which passed between the British and other representatives at the Geneva Conference not hitherto laid before Parliament.

He complained of the refusal of the Government to lay these papers. Parliament had a right to know the circumstances under which an invitation was extended to the United States and refused by the Government of that country.

The Marquis of Crewe, in supporting the motion, considered that the best hope of co-operation between the nations lay in the League of Nations.

The Earl of Derby heartily endorsed the motion, entreating the Government to give heed to the request that was made, not only by the House, but by the country, for more information. He did not want to attack the Government. If in the Lobby they had to chastise the Government it would be with pain, and in the hope that they were doing good to the Government. It was to the advantage of the Government that they should give more information. The fact that there were personal discussions rendered it all the more necessary that information should be given.

The result of not giving full information had led to misunderstanding between this country and France. At the Cannes Conference the Prime MMinister offered a pact of defensive alliance with France to the French Government. They did not know whether France accepted or refused.

The man in the street here would say that a pact was offered to France and refused by her. The man in the street in France would say that a pact was offered her as a condition of their going to Genoa. They went to Genoa; they delivered the goods, and Great Britain had not delivered theirs in return.

He would put questions to the Government, which, if answered, might clear up the misunderstanding. When the Prime Minister offered a pact to M. Briand at Cannes did he do so in writing? Was it accompanied by any conditions such as that France should send delegates to Genoa. Was the offer of a pact renewed to M. Poincaré, and did he send a despatch making any conditions or suggestions?

They must know why France went to Genoa half-heartedly, why America refused to go at all, and on what conditions Russia went. Then they could form a better conception of the Prime Minister's policy.

EARL OF BALFOUR.

HOUSE FULLY INFORMED.

The Earl of Balfour said that the position of the pact raised by the Earl of Derby was that as a result of conversations between the Prime Minister and M. Briand the Prime Minister outlined the sort of pact that he desired. There were three or four outstanding questions which it was thought not desirable to discuss at Genoa. M. Poincaré took the view that the pact should only follow the general liquidation of outstanding questions. Until these discussions had nearly reached complete settlement, it would not be worth while to enter into further minute details on this important subject.

As to the other question, the Earl of Midleton and the Marquis of Crewe appeared to be under the impression that the Government were keeping back information on the Genoa Conference—documents that would make the House form a completely different judgment.

It was a fantastic dream, and he could assure them that they were under a deep delusion.

"I am astounded," he added, "when I look at the precedents of the last 20 years, during most of which they were in office, how little they have published, and now they have the courage to come forward and attack us for not publishing more. I do not believe any conference has taken place on which more information has been given.

If the difference between the old diplomacy and the new was a question of record, all the advantage was with the new. He had seen a letter from a Dominion Prime Minister expressing gratitude for being kept au fait with what was being done at Genoa.

Viscount Grey of Falloden, after expressing his pleasure at once more finding himself in the same House with Lord Balfour, said that his speech was almost too strictly relevant to the motion. Lord Midleton had impugned the whole policy of the Genoa Conference, and that was the part of his speech to which Lord Balfour had not replied.

He had also missed the point of Lord Midleton's criticism, that the Government were in an exceptionally weak position to negotiate with the Bolshevists, because of the failure of their original policy of force against Russia.

As to diplomacy, they were all wiser than before the war, and he was quite prepared to admit that the old methods, though they had nothing to do with bringing about the war, were capable of improvement. But it did not follow that the new methods were better. Under the new methods private conversations were not private. Things were constantly coming out in the Press in a way that they used not to do.

He heard Lord Balfour say that they gave too much information. It was not the amount. The noble earl had made light of the differences with France at Genoa. Those who were anxious about the future had great anxiety during the Genoa Conference.

STRAINING THE ENTENTE.

REPARATIONS DIFFICULTY.

It seemed to them that the Entente with France was being strained almost to breaking point.

To listen to the noble Earl one would suppose that there was never any strain. Were they mistaken? Was all their anxiety misplaced? Newspapers which supported the Government had spoken at times of the Entente as practically at an end. Where did that information come from?

The first thing essential to the reconstruction of Europe was to secure the co-operation of the Governments and the resources of the States.

He was disappointed at Lord Balfour's statement that there were no more papers in connection with Genoa and the United States. His feeling was that there ought to be. They ought to have sounded the United States Government as to the methods by which they would agree to participate in the reconstruction of Europe. If that was not done, it was a grave and fatal mistake.

The most favourable outcome of The Hague Conference would be that it led to that result. Only then would progress be made. His first point, therefore, was that co-operation with the United States was essential.

His second point was a more difficult and delicate one—namely, the question of German reparations. The French Government were quite right to demand that it should be excluded from Genoa, and the Prime Minister was right in conceding that demand. It was not a suitable place to discuss reparations, but as long as the German reparations question remained unsettled no progress was possible, and conferences would lead to nothing so long as the question remained hanging like a cloud over the political and economic situation in Europe.

The Earl of Midleton withdrew his motion.

M. LITVINOFF'S EVASIONS.

EXPERTS' POINTED QUESTIONS.

NO CREDITS WITHOUT GUARANTEES.

The Sub-Committee appointed by The Hague Commission of Experts to discuss the question of granting credits to Russia received M. Litvinoff yesterday. He was asked for certain information which the Sub-Committee regarded as essential.

Litvinoff at first refused to give any information until he knew whether it was intended to grant credits or not. Delegates, however, insisted that they must know what amounts were required, what money was wanted, and what terms and guarantees were offered to investors.

They gave it to be understood that, if the work of all the sub-committees proceeded satisfactorily, they would be ready to recommend their Governments to use machinery of credit to help Russian trade.

In the end Litvinoff agreed to give all the information required at a later meeting.

RUSSIA'S OFFER FIRST.

MR. HILTON YOUNG'S BLUNT STATEMENT.

THE HAGUE, Tuesday.

At the opening of a meeting of the Credits Sub-Committee this afternoon, Baron Romano Avezzana, President, asked M. Litvinoff to set forth the Russian case in regard to the question of credits.

M. Litvinoff replied that he was quite prepared to give and receive information, but he wanted to know what he was expected to give information about.

Baron Avezzana said that they wanted to know to what extent credits were required, for what purpose they were wanted, the amount required, and the terms which Russia offered.

The Russian delegate answered that before discussing the question he wished to know whether it was intended to give credits to Russia, or not. Russia wanted goods, and she wanted her orders to be financed. There could be no question of confidence between the producers and the Russian Government, for the producers would look to their own Governments.

Mr. Hilton Young asked M. Litvinoff to give a definite statement of his programme, at the same time remarking on the close connection between capital and confidence, and also on the connection between the question of credits and matters which were being discussed by other Sub-Committees.

It was, he said, only if satisfactory arrangements were made by all three Sub-Committees that the Governments would be able to give assistance in the initial stages.

The French delegate expressed his agreement with what Mr. Hilton Young had said. All the countries, he added, were anxious to help, but the question must be tackled on practical lines.

For instance, they must know why money was wanted, what was the amount required, could money be found, and what guarantees and terms were offered to investors.

Baron Avezzana repeated in even more definite terms the points on which information was required, and asked Litvinoff to deal with matters under a number of heads already given, together with other questions, such as what were the most urgent requirements, and was any geographical district specially in mind in reference to any of them.

M. Litvinoff once more asked for a definite statement as to whether the Commission could give guarantees that credits would be forthcoming, and Mr. Hilton Young bluntly answered, "I cannot reply without the information that Russia alone is able to furnish."

Some of the busiest men in Europe would not be at the Hague unless they hoped to find a fruitful basis, and the attainment of this largely depended on the work of all the sub-committees. If the reply was satisfactory they were quite prepared to recommend the Government's represented there to use the machinery of credit to help Russian trade in the same way in which Great Britain was already assisting the trade of other countries.

This had been made clear to the Russians at Genoa.

He again emphasised the fact that all the Committees would proceed concurrently on the assumption that the work of each was proceeding in the direction of a solution. If they did not proceed on that assumption, no work would be possible by any of them.

A long discussion followed, as the result of which M. Litvinoff expressed his satisfaction. The discussion, he said, had been very useful, and if he was right in assuming that the Russian Delegation was not going once more to be referred to people outside the Commission, then he had no objection to giving, and, in fact, agreed to give, all the information required.

He accordingly asked the President to allow him time to prepare a plan.

The meeting then adjourned to a date and time to be arranged.

The Russian Delegates have also agreed to meet the two other Sub-Committees, the one on Wednesday afternoon, and the other on Thursday morning. The meeting with the Russians lasted two and a half hours. The proceedings were uneventful, the chief feature being the apparent inability of M. Litvinoff to understand the elementary business arrangements which necessitated constant interventions to keep him to the point.—(Press Association Correspondent.)

MEXICAN BANDITS ACTIVE.

WASHINGTON, Tuesday.

Following on the capture of Mr. Bruce Bielaski, head of an American oil company, by bandits in Mexico, it is now reported that 40 American employés of the Cortes Oil Company, together with property valued at more than a quarter of a million dollars, have been seized by the rebel General Grorozabe, who is holding them with 240 well-armed men until a ransom of £300 is paid. Instructions have been sent by the State Department to the American Embassy in Mexico City and the American Consul at Tampico to urge immediate action by the Mexican authorities for the protection of American lives and property.—(Reuter.)

DESTROYER SUNK.

TOULON, Tuesday.

The destroyer, Boucher, 780 tons, collided with the French Dreadnought, Paris, 25,000 tons, to-day during trials. The Paris received a rent forward above the water-line, while the stem of the Boucher was smashed. Two tugs proceeded to the assistance of the destroyer, and brought her into Castingneau Basin, where she sank.—(Reuter.)

ANGLO-ITALIAN CONVERSATIONS

Reuter's Agency learns that, at the first meeting between Signor Schanzer, the Italian Foreign Minister, and Lord Balfour, which was held at the Foreign Office yesterday afternoon, a general discussion took place on various questions of interest by both countries.

FROM TO-DAY'S LONDON PAPERS.

HONOURS' LISTS.

A PUBLIC DEMAND.

"THE TIMES" OF TO-DAY SAYS:—

It is a great pity that the Government does not appear to realise the strength of public opinion which lies behind the demand expressed in both Houses of Parliament for an explanation of the system by which names of persons are recommended to His Majesty as fit recipients of honours. The public will be by no means satisfied if the House of Commons obtains no opportunity for discussing the subject this session. It has been thoroughly disquieted by the allegations freely made in the debate in the House of Lords last week.

Having heard so often the cynical accusations that there are cases where honours can be bought and sold, it will believe that there must be substantial truth in them if they are not thoroughly probed and disproved. It is not inclined to view last week's statements in the Lords as the products of a groundless suspicion or as the protests of an order absurdly jealous of its dignity.

In short, allegations of so grave a nature have been made in that House, and read at large by the nation, that the question cannot be shirked. The whole decency and sincerity of public life are too deeply involved. The Government cannot, if it views the issue in the broadest light, let the case go by default.

THE LEGACY OF GENOA.

PUBLIC MIND DISTURBED.

The Times, in the course of a leading article, observes:—Very opportunely the question of the obscure proceedings in Genoa was raised yesterday in the House of Lords. The Government have not yet condescended to give to the British Parliament and the British people a connected account of the origins and progress of this, the most incomprehensible European assembly of recent times. It may be that the Government would gladly forget that most unpleasant, inconvenient and unsuccessful episode.

The British public cannot forget it, more particularly at a moment when its disagreeable consequences must be analysed and unravelled at the Hague. With the professed aim of the Genoa conference—the final establishment of peace and the restoration of Europe—all will most heartily agree, but, as Lord Derby pointed out, the conditions under which the Conference was convened doomed it to failure. Lord Grey very pertinently remarked on the futility of basing a plan for the reconstruction of Europe on a hopeless attempt to bring about an agreement with bankrupt Bolshevists, while the United States, whose aid was essential, refrained from any participation in the enterprise.

Lord Grey made it clear that at the present moment Europe is nearer complete disaster than it has been at any moment since the armistice. The debate in the House of Lords was inconclusive, but it at any rate gave fresh point to many of those harassing questions which disturb the public mind, and are the more disquieting now in view of the fresh attempt which is being made in the Hague to discuss European reconstruction from the wrong end.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE.

MORE BUSINESS.

There were several notable features in Stock Markets yesterday, says The Times, and the volume of business was somewhat larger. The New Indian Scrip was again strongly supported, and the price rose to ½ premium. Argentine Railway Stocks were quite buoyant on the favourable developments with regard to the rate question, and more attention was given to the South African market than has been the case for a considerable time past.

The French Railway Scrips also attracted buyers, and the market in Oils assumed a steadier appearance towards the close.

AN "ULTIMATUM."

The Daily Telegraph Parliamentary Correspondent says:—The message despatched to Dublin on Saturday by Mr. Churchill was described in responsible quarters yesterday as being to all intents and purposes an ultimatum.

The Daily Telegraph says:—The kidnapping of Lieutenant-General O'Connell is a distinct and definite challenge to the authority of the Provisional Government. We can only wait and see whether they take it up. Mr. Bonar Law laid stress on the fact that Mr. Collins has spoken and has acted in a manner which does not appear consistent with the pledge that Ulster should only be brought into the Free State, if at all, of her own free will. That is, perhaps, the gravest of the reasons for doubting whether success awaits the great enterprise of which the Treaty is the expression. It cannot be long, as Mr. Bonar Law has said, before these grave matters are brought to the test. We believe with him that the Government means to see this thing through. On no other terms could they continue to receive the support of public opinion.

BRITAIN AND FREE STATE.

The Political Correspondent of the Daily Mail writes:—Grave anxiety as to the Irish situation was the dominant note in official Government circles late last night. Communications were passing between British Ministers and Mr. M. Collins, but no formal reply to the Note sent him demanding that he should assert the authority of his Government is likely to be received for a few days.

THE GOVERNMENT AND IRELAND.

Commenting on the Irish policy of the Government, the Morning Post says:—If disarmament had been insisted upon as a preliminary condition of the Treaty, it would still in our view have been bad policy for Great Britain as a whole, but it would have had at least a chance of success in Ireland. But what the Government did was to leave the Irish people in the hands of an armed organisation sworn to Republicanism. In these circumstances to expect the Irish people to create a British Dominion was in the last degree unreasonable. For the pistol was left in possession—the pistol ruled the land.

MISUSED FORBEARANCE.

The Daily News, in a leader, says:—We hope the arrest of Commandant Henderson, of the rebel I.R.A., is an indication that Mr. Collins and his colleagues are resolved to put an end to the scandal of a rival and tolerated Government in the same capital as that established by the Treaty and confirmed by recent elections. Their forbearance hitherto has been so misused by the other side as to create a situation which cannot continue without destroying the Free State itself.

MR. BONAR LAW AND "DIE-HARDS."

The Westminster Gazette Political Correspondent says:—It is believed that, in the event of the Provisional Government being unable to meet the demand for more resolute steps against the Republicans, and the Treaty lapsing, Mr. Bonar Law will throw in his lot with the "Die-hards," and, if his health permits accept the leadership of this party.

SIR H. WILSON'S ASSASSINS.

The Daily Mail says:—The identity of the men arrested in connection with the murder of Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, in Eaton place last Thursday, has now been established. When arrested they gave the names of Connolly and O'Brien. Later it was stated that O'Brien's real name was Sullivan, and that he had been employed at the Ministry of Labour. Connolly's identity was discovered yesterday. His real name is Reginald Dunn.

MR. CHAMBERLAIN ILL.

The Daily Express Lobby Correspondent writes:—Mr. Austen Chamberlain, who looked extremely ill during the Irish debate, was confined to his bed yesterday. Mr. Lloyd George will lead the House of Commons in his absence.

SILESIA REACTIONARIES.

The Berlin Correspondent of the Daily Telegraph, telegraphing on Tuesday, says:—While Germany is still mourning one dastardly crime of the reactionaries, they are already at work in another direction. Ehrhardt and other members of the Pan-German Freicorps Oberland have appeared in force in the portion of Upper Silesia just handed back to Germany, and begun rioting and attacking Jewish and Polish shops, notably in Ratibor and Oberglogau. The Prussian Minister of the Interior has placed Upper Silesia under martial law at the request of the authorities there who fear reprisals by Poland.

R.I.C. REFUGEES.

LORD CARSON'S PLEA.

THE GOVERNMENT'S ATTITUDE.

HEATED DISCUSSION.

Lord Carson, in the House of Lords yesterday, asked His Majesty's Government if attention had been called to the case of certain pensioners of the Royal Irish Constabulary who had been compelled to leave their homes under threat of assassination and who had been refused any assistance to enable them to come to England, or elsewhere, for safety, on the grounds that they did not come under the demobilisation scheme; and whether the Government were prepared to assist such men, having regard to the position in which they found themselves by reason of their loyal services in the past.

I have put this question on the paper, said Lord Carson, in consequence of a communication I have received, signed by six ex-sergeants and constables of the Royal Irish Constabulary, whose position is as follows:—They are retired members of that loyal force, who are living in various parts of the South and West of Ireland, with their families, and who were in each case threatened that unless the left their homes they would, according to the notices they had received, be assassinated; and the House is aware that in many cases where the Royal Irish Constabulary have tried to settle down in their own homes such assassination has been carried out.

Your lordships may take it from me that in the South and West of Ireland no retired police constable is safe, just as no man who fought in the war is safe. These unfortunate men were obliged, under these circumstances, to leave their families, and they proceeded to Dublin, hoping that there they might receive such assistance as would enable them to come into some place of safety. I understand that His Majesty's Government have a scheme for helping members of the Constabulary who are demobilised under the new arrangements which have become necessary by reason of the Irish surrender, and under which they are allowed to come to this country and elsewhere, into a position of safety, and are, meanwhile, assisted as regards their families. Here is their account in the document which they have sent to the Government:—

THE MEN'S CASE.

REFUGEES' PETITION.

"We left home and took refuge here in Dublin. We reported our arrival and gave copies of our notices to the Inspector-General. To our great surprise he told us we did not come under the scheme referred to. We interviewed Mr. Cope, and asked him to have us brought under the same conditions as our comrades, or, as an alternative, a sum of two or three shillings should be granted to us, and our train fares. He did not hold out any hopes that he would do so. Therefore, we are obliged to make this earnest appeal to you to bring us within the demobilisation scheme.

"Our position is unique and deplorable. The Government whom we have served, and for which service we are now punished, refuses us aid because we are not on active service, and the civilian scheme rejects us. We respectfully submit we are refugees because of active service for His Majesty's Government, and therefore claim assistance from that Government.

"Furthermore, we contend we come within the definition of refugees, for whose assistance and maintenance the Provisional Government holds itself responsible. Each of us approaching 60 years of age, we are striving to maintain ourselves here and our families elsewhere. We, the old members of the Royal Irish Constabulary, which never failed in loyalty, petition your Government in this hour of great misfortune to come to our aid."

These, continued Sir Edward, are men, any one of whom may be assassinated any day. They are not Field-Marshals, and I daresay they could be assassinated with very little trouble. If the Government fail to provide for these men the assistance for which they have asked, they will be taking upon themselves a responsibility which may end in their being made responsible by this House, and, I hope, by the country, if anything untoward should happen to these men. I hope the Government will see their way to make no difference between men who were demobilised under the present scheme and those who have been pensioners for some time. The cause in each instance is exactly the same—that because they served their Government loyally they cannot live in Ireland.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION.

"DIFFICULTY OF THE CASE."

The Earl of Crawford, replying for the Government, said that the Government's attention had been drawn to similar cases. His information was that Lord Carson's complaint was exaggerated, and, according to the Irish Office, these cases were not very numerous. The major portion of these men in Ireland were unmolested. The difficulty lay in selecting one class of refugee, and according to them what was not accorded to others similarly suffering. The policy, in pursuance of which Sir Samuel Hoare's Committee had been established, was that the Provisional Government was responsible for seeing that every individual within its area was left undisturbed in his rights, person, and property.

He hoped that these troubles would diminish. If, on the other hand, at a future period it became clear that undertakings solemnly given were not to be implemented, different questions would arise. The pensioned members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were entitled to the assistance of Sir Samuel Hoare's Committee, as were all other persons compelled by intimidation to leave Ireland.

The Marquis of Crewe said that Lord Carson would probably think that the answer did not meet the case. These men should be treated as if they were still members of His Majesty's forces.

Lord Carson said that it was a strange thing to find support from a lifelong political opponent and to get nothing but sneers and objections from those who used to fight fr the Union as if they were sincere.

Lord Crawford said that Lord Carson was only replying by permission of the House. It was not usual under such conditions to make such an attack as Lord Carson had made on him of sneering. He did nothing of the kind, and he repudiated the allegation with emphasis.

REPLY TO LORD CRAWFORD.

LORD CARSON AND THE GOVERNMENT.

Lord Carson—I care nothing for the noble lord's lectures. I have known him long enough to be able to value his opinions. It is no use his trying to lecture me here. I am dealing with the case of men who are being hounded out of Ireland as a result of the policy of the Government whom they faithfully and loyally served. I am dealing with realities, and so long as I have any voice, no matter what lectures are given by great men who sit opposite me, I assure you I will speak for these men with all the vigour I can.

It is very easy for the noble earl to sit there and to live in peace and quietness and safety, making concessions to the murder-gang in Ireland. But here are five or six men who are on the run from the assassins, and when I ask the Government to pay their fare to this country and a separation allowance so that they can support themselves and their families, what is the answer I get? That there are so many the Government can do nothing. Yes, there are so many of them, it does not matter how many are killed. That is what is meant. That is the reality of it. Let the noble earl go over to Dublin and stay there for a while, and understand the realities of the situation. The Government ought to be ashamed of such an answer as has been given here. All I can say is that if anything happens to these men, it is the noble earl and those with whom he acts who will be responsible and will be held responsible.

A REMINDER.

Lord Desart said that if any of them spoke warmly, the noble earl must remember that they had lost friends. He asked the Government to reconsider the matter.

Lord Crawford repeated that Lord Carson had not treated him fairly in saying that his answer was anything in the nature of a sneer. He felt too profoundly on the subject to allow himself to do anything of the kind.

Lord Carson—I give notice that on an early day I will again call attention to the disgraceful treatment by the Government of these men.

The debate then terminated.

The Berliner Tageblatt publishes a telegram from Dresden, stating that according to the Socialist Press the Saxon Government has sent a request to the Imperial Government for the resignation of Herr Geisler, the Imperial Minister of Defence.

MYSTERIOUS SHOOTINGS.

DEMONSTRATION AT ULSTER M.P.'S HOUSE.

Mysterious shootings occurred near Orangefield, Castlereagh road, Belfast, the residence of Captain Dixon, M.P., during Monday night. Captain Dixon was in London, where he represented Sir James Craig and the Northern Government at the funeral of Sir Henry Wilson, but Mrs. Dixon was at home, and there was a guard of "B" Specials at the house.

The first shot, which appeared to be from a revolver, was fired at the back of the house, and was replied to be the Specials, but no one was seen. An hour later two shots were fired in the front of the house. The Specials fired a few rounds in reply, and a search was made of the grounds, but without result.

Shortly afterwards there was more shooting in the neighbourhood of the inspection barrier which had been erected at Sandown road, in the same neighbourhood, but the men who fired the shots got away, in spite of a vigorous fusillade by the police.

BORDER AMBUSH.

MUCH SHOOTING AND NO DAMAGE.

A patrol of "B" Specials was ambushed at Drumderg, between Benburb and Blackwatertown, on the Tyrone-Armagh border, on Saturday morning. They were attacked with rifle and machine-gun fire.

The police replied, hundreds of rounds being discharged. Verey lights were sent up and attracted Specials from Armagh to the scene, but the firing had then ceased. No casualties are reported.

The roads in the district had been blocked.

KIDNAPPED AND RELEASED.

On Monday night a party of armed men raided a North-bound train at Dundalk, and kidnapped a R.I.C. man who had just been demobilised at Gormanstown, and who was travelling to Derry. They also took from the train a motor bicycle, two bags, and two boxes of luggage belonging to the traveller.

Later in the night the ex-policeman was released and his luggage was returned to the station. He left for his destination by the train on Tuesday morning.

RAILWAY HOTEL SEIZED.

The Great Northern Railway Hotel at Bundoran has been taken over for Belfast refugees. There are three hundred of them in it. The hotel is a splendid building, with excellent golf links, and is crowded each summer. The loss to the company will be considerable.

TRAIN RAIDERS DISPERSED.

Raiders for bacon and whiskey were surprised on Monday night at Ballyshannon Station, on the Donegal line, by regular I.R.A. troops, who fired. The raiders escaped, leaving a pool of blood behind.

THE BALLYSHANNON SHOOTING.

When John Murray was charged at a Special Court in Ballyshannon yesterday with having wounded Lieutenant Temple, I.R.A., at the local salmon boxes, the Bench allowed Murray out on bail.

Commandant McGowan, who is in charge of the 4th Brigade of Regular I.R.A., refused to allow him to be released, stating that his superior officer had ordered his detention. He declined to produce the order.

At the taking of evidence Commandant McGowan admitted, when cross-examined by the accused, that two civilians accompanied the military party, which was fired on from the boxes.

No evidence was given as to who fired the shot from the boxes.

Lieutenant Temple is in hospital, and unable to make a deposition.

POACHERS ON A FISHERY.

The manager of the Erne Fisheries yesterday smashed with a sledge the boxes at the eel weir at Ballyshannon. Poachers were ruining the fishery by closing the boxes and netting at this point, and thus preventing the spawning. Regular I.R.A. troops protected the manager, who was acting on orders from the Dail Ministry of Fisheries, it is believed.

DERRY PORTER RELEASED.

The Derry railway porter, named Young, who was kidnapped at Carrigans, on the Great Northern line, on Saturday, has been released and has returned home.

BOMBS IN A DITCH.

On Monday evening Specials operating from Kilkeel, in the Atticall district, heard several shots, apparently as signals. Searches were carried out, and in a ditch bombs and a quantity of literature were found.

IRISH REFUGEES.

MR. CHURCHILL'S STATEMENT

Mr. Churchill, replying to Brigadier-General Colvin, said that the number of refugees to England from Ireland was not increasing. The information in his possession was not sufficient to enable him to give any estimate of the number of destitute of semi-destitute persons who had come to England for protection.

Mr. Gideon Murray asked whether consideration would be given to the representations made on the previous night by Sir Samuel Hoare with regard to setting up a Royal Commission to deal with these cases.

Mr. Churchill—I do not think a Royal Commission is necessary, but I am considering whether the Committee of which Sir Samuel Hoare is Chairman may not be enlarged in order to enable it to undertake the work which is being put upon it by other departments.

Colonel Gretton asked whether the answer meant that refugees were coming over in increasing numbers.

Mr. Churchill—I do not agree that there has been a great egress during the last fortnight. On the contrary, I think it is slackening. At any rate, the fact that only 300 persons have come over in the last three weeks certainly shows that the numbers are being restrained within fairly definite limits. There are a few coming in day by day, but I do not think that there is any formidable exodus from Ireland.

Mr. Gideon Murray understood that large numbers were arriving at Glasgow.

Mr. Churchill said that the allegation was that these refugees were coming over from Belfast, and were all Catholics. It was strenuously denied by the Northern Government that there was any emigration from Belfast to Glasgow.

Mr. Gideon Murray—It does not matter whether they are Catholics or Protestants, they ought to be protected. (Hear, hear.)

ATTACK ON A CHURCH.

GREAT DAMAGE TO WINDOWS.

On Sunday evening, while the congregation were at Service in Inver (Co. Donegal) Protestant Church, the building was attacked by a large number of young men who broke sixty panes of glass with stones.

They then attempted to enter the Church by the front door, but the sexton succeeded in closing it and the attackers withdrew to the Protestant school, a short distance away, and smashed the windows there. The outrage is condemned by people of all sections in the district.

KIDNAPPED LOYALISTS.

NO WORD OF PETTIGO MEN.

Mr. Churchill, in the House of Commons, replying to Mr. Pennefather, who asked a question with regard to the four loyalists who had been kidnapped from the Pettigo district nearly three weeks ago, said that there were some 24 or 25 men kidnapped, and he was in communication with the Provisional Government on the whole subject. In the meanwhile he was holding 15 persons who were taken prisoners at Pettigo by the British forces.

Viscount Curzon asked what steps were being taken by the British Government to recover the kidnapped men.

Mr. Churchill repeated that he was in communication with the Provisional Government.

Mr. Pennefather asked, seeing that it was nearly three weeks ago since the inquiries were made, were not the Provisional Government treating them with such scant respect as to amount to almost contempt.

Mr. Churchill—No, I do not think so at all. The Free State forces are very anxious to get these men back.

THREATS OF THE UNEMPLOYED.

A COUNCIL OF ACTION IN DUBLIN.

Hundreds of unemployed men and women yesterday assembled in the Round Room of the Mansion House and were addressed by members of the newly formed "Council of Direct Action." The remarks of the speakers counselling direct action, and expressing determination that workers should not starve while the stores and shops were full, were vigorously applauded. References to the Irish Minister of Labour evoked sarcastic comments, and the suggestion of one of the speakers that if the new Government was unable to solve the problem of unemployment it should stand aside and make way for the workers met with enthusiastic approval. The tenor of the speeches was that the "class war" should be pushed to a final conclusion, and in this connection the formation of a disciplined workers' army was mentioned as being of importance.

In a letter, which was read by the Chairman, Mr. William Manning, the Lord Mayor said that unemployment was one of the most serious problems of the moment, and would have to be grappled with. No country could be content where men willing to work could not get work.

A WORKERS' ARMY.

Mr. Walter Carpenter said they did not seem to realise that the Mansion House was one of their own buildings. But they wanted more than a room, and if something were not done, and done quickly, he would go so far as to advise them to take over the Mansion House for themselves. (Applause.) The Minister of Labour of the Provisional Government, the speaker described as a tool of the British Government.

"At the present moment," he said, "the factories, stores, and shops are full and overflowing with goods produced by you." The "bosses" had never produced any of them. The speaker referred to the seizure of farm produce by agricultural workers on strike at Cork six months ago, and said that he had yet to learn that the mentality of Dublin workers was inferior to the mentality of Cork workers. (Cheers.) He advised them to steer clear of capitalist armies, but if they wanted an army, let them get one of their own—a workers' army, and get the materials necessary for that army, for he believed that the day was near at hand when they would need all the materials that they could get. The fight of the unemployed was a working class fight. He would be condemned for preaching a class war, but he believed in the doctrine of "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth." He would tell these people that they had their day, but it might be the workers' day to-morrow, and then they would pay some of them back in their own coin. (Loud applause.)

Mr. E. Brennan said that they demanded for the unemployed 30s. a week for men, 25s. for women, £1 for boys and girls between 16 and 18, 10s. for the first and only child of a family, and 5s. a week for every child after the first. The unemployed, he said, had nothing to gamble but their lives, and they were prepared to gamble their lives to see that the present issue was properly met. There were £2,000,000 lying in the exchequer of the Irish Government, and why should it not be spread out amongst them. A policy was being formulated by the Council of Action, and if their demands were not granted he would suggest to them that they should issue a "no rent manifesto," and urge the right to use the tramcars without paying.

WITH THE GLOVES OFF.

Mr. McCabe said that they would realise from the name, "Council of Direct Action," that this fight was going to be a fight with the gloves off. It was the women's duty to stand by the men. The men could, at least, in the course of the fight, tighten their belts, but it was the starving women who broke their faith. Hitherto they had fought everyone's battle but their own in the British Army, the Irish Republican Army, the Free State Army, the Citizen Army. Let them now fight their own. Suicide and murder were crimes according to the law of the land; but was it not suicide to starve in the midst of plenty? Self-preservation was the first law of nature. The speaker quoted the following passage from St. Thomas Aquinas:—"In extreme necessity it is lawful to fall back upon the ultimate intention of God to give each the supply of physical needs, to steal sooner than to starve, and even to steal to supply the needs of others sooner than let them starve."

"In other words," the speaker added, "if you are hungry in the midst of plenty it is your duty to God to supply yourself with the necessaries of life, to take the goods of others when you have got none." Certain instructions would be given by the Council of Action, and when once a thing was decided on there should be no questioning or turning back. There were individuals in their ranks who advocated the looting of shops, but when the necessity for that arose he was certain that the Council of Action would be ready to advise them when it was best to be done. He preferred 20 trained men to a mob of thousands, and with such men he would make it be realised that it was an organised, disciplined body of men that had to be dealt with. He asked them to let no one assume the right to lead them, or to bring the forces of law and order in this country down on them before they were ready for them.

It was also the duty of those who had relatives in the Free State or Republican Armies to point out to them that if action was necessary to be taken they should not stand against them—they were their own flesh and blood—and that when the fight came they should not draw their guns against them, but should take their place in front of them.

THE IRISH ELECTIONS.

P.R. COMMITTEE'S OPINIONS.

A meeting of the Proportional Representation Committee was held at the House of Commons yesterday, Major Morrison Bell presiding, when some discussion took place on the working of the Proportional system in connection with the Irish elections.

The view was taken that Proportional Representation had fully justified itself, that without it there would probably have been no election at all, a list of pro-Treaty and Anti-Treaty candidates being imposed upon the electors under the Collins-de Valera pact, and that it had been instrumental in bringing about the return of many Independents.

The Committee are now working for the inclusion of Proportional Representation in the promised House of Lords reform.

Referring to Mr. Churchill's description of the system as "baffling," Major Morrison Bell told a Press representative that it only proved baffling to M.P.'s in England. People in Ireland understood it perfectly well, and had employed it most intelligently, using their powers even to the seventh and eighth preference. It was said that the system had enabled a number of Republicans to be elected, but, surely, if they represented a body of opinion in the country, though a minority, it was better that they should be working openly within the Parliament than plotting outside it.

CUSHENDALL INQUESTS.

On Monday evening Mr. James Caruth, Coroner for Mid-Antrim, held an inquest on the bodies of John Gore and James McAllister, two of the men who were shot in Cushendall on Friday last. Medical evidence was given as to the cause of death, and the Coroner returned a verdict in each case accordingly.

The police stated that a military inquiry would probably be held, and notice would be given to the next-of-kin.

ALLEGED ATTACK ON SOLDIERS.

Sir L. Worthington Evans, in reply to Viscount Curzon in the House of Commons yesterday, said that the military authorities were unable to confirm the facts as alleged that three Irish soldiers home on leave at Listowel, County Kerry, were surprised by armed men, deprived of their uniforms, and one wounded. Further inquiry into the matter was being made.

B "SPECIAL" ACCIDENTALLY SHOT.

Robert Irwin, a "B" Special, was accidentally shot while on duty in the Cregagh road, Belfast, last night, and died later in hospital. Constable Irwin was talking with two other constables at the time when a revolver was dropped. It went off and the bullet lodged in Irwin's neck.

FINANCE BILL.

EVASION OF SUPER TAX.

The Finance Bill was again considered in Committee in the House of Commons yesterday. Sir R. Horne moved a new clause in substitution for Clause 14, dealing with the evasion of super-tax by certain companies.

He said that the only intention of the clause was to get at companies which were operating so as to defeat the super-tax law. He had tried to design a clause which would exclude from investigation the great mass of companies which ought not to be so troubled, and strike only at those which were engaged in devices to evade the super-tax. A company would only become subject to the provisions of the clause if it failed to distribute a reasonable part of its actual income from all sources for the year. There were about 86,000 private companies in the country operating under the Company Law. The clause would apply to only a few hundred of these.

Mr. R. Herbert thought that the Chancellor would be better advised to leave the clause out altogether. Companies could get out of it by registering abroad, which would enable them to get, not only out of super-tax, but out of income tax as well. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. A. Samuel accepted the clause. He considered it a great advance on the clause it displaced, which was utterly unworkable.

Sir W. Joynson Hicks feared that in attempting to catch tax-dodgers the Chancellor was going to injure the trade and banking world of London. The clause would bring under a new inquisition perfectly bona fide companies which ought not to be so brought.

Mr. Holmes thought that genuine trading companies ought not to be hampered in this way.

Mr. Macquisten held that if the clause was intended to get at the tax-dodger only it was not worth while for all the revenue it would bring in.

Mr. G. Terrell urged the withdrawal of the clause, which would cost more than it would produce.

Sir R. Horne was reluctant to abandon the clause, which was designed for the purpose of dealing with an evil in their midst. He was prepared, however, to accept words which would make it perfectly plain that the act of failure to distribute must leave the conclusion in the mind of the Special Commissioner that evasion was intended. He expressed his readiness to accept amendments bringing the clause into operation as from the 5th April, 1922, instead of 1921, and applying it to companies registered after the 5th April, 1914, instead of 1909. It would be the business of the Commissioners to get at real cases where money was set aside for reserve with a view to evading super tax.

After further discussion the clause was read a second time.

DELAYING AMENDMENT.

Mr. S. Holmes moved an amendment delaying the operation of the clause till 5th April this year instead of 5th April last year. He said that companies had made up their accounts for last year, and it would be unfair to legislate retrospectively against them in this way.

Answering Sir G. Collins, Sir R. Horne said that the amount that would be lost to the Revenue by deferring the operation of the clause would be about £400,000.

Sir D. Maclean and Lord Robert Cecil objected to this generosity on the part of the Government.

Mr. Lawson said that the Chancellor, by accepting the amendment, was giving colour to the suggestion that this was a rich man's Budget.

The amendment was carried by 244 votes to 59.

On an amendment moved by Mr. S. Holmes, Sir R. Horne said that he would, on the report stage, move an amendment exempting companies which come under the clause from the corporation profits tax.

Answering Sir G. Collins, the Chancellor said that the loss involved to the Treasury would be comparatively small.

The amendment was withdrawn, and an amendment was accepted limiting the operation of the clause to companies registered after 5th April, 1914, instead of 1909.

The clause, as amended, was added to the bill.

The House adjourned at 2.22 a.m.

SIR HENRY WILSON.

BELFAST COUNCIL'S TRIBUTE.

A special meeting of the Belfast Corporation yesterday passed the following resolution:—

"That this Corporation express their detestation of the murder of Field-Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, Bart., G.C.B., D.S.O., an honorary burgess of this city, and they direct that their heartfelt sympathy be conveyed to Lady Wilson in the incalculable loss she has sustained by the untimely death of her beloved husband.

"Further, that it be recorded on the minutes of this Council that the late Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson was an Irishman of transcendent ability, whose life and talents were devoted to the service of his King and country, and whose natural gifts of head and heart endeared him to all those who had the honour of knowing him.

"That such a splendid and fearless nobility should be sacrificed and lost to the Empire at a time when talents such as those possessed by the late Field-Marshal are so necessary for its preservation magnifies the loss which the nation suffers, and calls forth the sympathy of British subjects throughout the world."

The Lord Mayor (Sir William Coates), in moving the resolution, spoke of the pride with which the city regarded the fact that Sir Henry was one of their honorary burgesses. They recalled with pride that the distinguished Field-Marshal, as soon as his period of service as head of the British Army had expired, immediately placed himself at the disposal of the people of Ulster, who gladly availed themselves of the assistance that he was so willing to render. They should never forget his buoyancy of spirit, his unfailing interest in Ulster, and his outstanding services to the Empire.

BRAZIL'S REGRET.

Reuter's Agency learns that in a message to the British Government the Brazilian Government expresses its deepest regret at the murder of Field-Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, and the consequent loss to the British Army.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN COLOGNE.

COLOGNE, Monday.

A Memorial Service in honour of Sir Henry Wilson was held at the Garrison Church today.

The congregation included all the British and Allied authorities.

A SHORT SITTING.

£1,700,000 FOR SPECIAL POLICE.

Business at yesterday's sitting of the Northern Ireland Parliament was disposed of in a few minutes.

The Minister of Finance, Mr. Pollock, formally moved votes of £50,000 for secret service and £1,711,765 for the salaries and expenses of the Special Constabulary for the current year.

Mr. Thompson Donald asked if there was to be no discussion on the subject.

The Prime Minister (Sir James Craig) said that it would be an extremely unfavourable moment to raise the question of salaries. If not all, these salaries were to a large extent paid by the British Government. He asked that the votes should go through without discussion. When the whole matter was under review in the autumn an opportunity would be given for discussion.

The votes were passed.

GAIETY THEATRE.

"SAMSON AND DELILAH."

Despite the fact that we have reached midsummer, when outdoor attractions are usually uppermost, the Gaiety Theatre was filled in every part last night, when the O'Mara Opera Company gave a most pleasing performance of Saint-Saëns' great dramatic opera, "Samson an Delilah." The Biblical story is revealed throughout the three acts of the opera with ever-increasing intensity of feeling, culminating in the great final scene, in which the strength of Samson is restored, and he uses it to bring down in ruins the Temple of Dagon, and perishes in its destruction. The scenic effects leave nothing to be desired, and the final tableau was most impressive.

The work of the composer throws a great strain upon the resources of the two principal artists, upon whose singing and acting so much depends; but of Miss Mabel Dennis and Mr. John Pegg, who figured in the respective parts of Samson and Delilah last night, it may be said without exaggeration that they made full use of the great opportunities afforded them. Miss Dennis has already scored a success in Dublin in the early part of the year, but last night she excelled herself, and threw a fervour and intensity of feeling into her interpretation of the character of Delilah which carried all before her. Her greatest success was in the second act, in which she sang "Softly Awakes My Heart" in a manner that aroused the enthusiasm of her audience.

Mr. Pegg was very effective in the love scene in the second act, and again showed much dramatic feeling in the scenes in the Temple. The other characters, particularly those of Mr. James Bird, as the High Priest of Dagon, and Mr. Bevan, as Ahimelech (Satrap of Gazar), were admirably taken; and the orchestra, under the conductorship of Mr. W. J. C. Hekker, and the chorus acquitted themselves in a manner that enhanced the enjoyment of an admirable performance.

To-night Gounod's "Faust" will be presented.

THE RAILWAYS.

NORTHERN INQUIRY.

The Railway Commission for Northern Ireland resumed its sittings in Belfast yesterday—Mr. Justice Brown presiding.

Mr. William Reid, Secretary of the Belfast and Dublin Locomotive Drivers' and Firemen's Union, traced the movement of wages and hours from 1872 to the present time.

It was the contention of those whom he represented that men performing night duty should receive extra remuneration. Overtime had always been paid at time and a quarter rate, as also had Sunday duty, which was originally paid for as a full day. Latterly, however, some of the companies adopted a system of paying for the actual hours worked, a practice which was much resented by the men. The contention of the men was that a full day's pay should be given a man if his services were required only for two or three hours.

Men on duty on Saturdays, and carrying on into the Sunday, should be paid time and a quarter from midnight until their duty finished on Sunday. Men going to duty on Sunday nights and continuing into Monday should be paid at Sunday rates until they actually finished their tour.

The witness controverted the contention of the companies that on account of the extra men employed as a consequence of the eight-hour day it was impossible to reduce railway rates or fares, and in reference to nationalisation said there were differences of opinion amongst those he represented. Personally he was not directly in favour of it.

A statement was presented by Messrs. John Beattie, Robert McClung, and Herbert Attwood, representatives of the engineering and shipbuilding trades and His Majesty's Dockyard and Railway Craft Union movements. They represented seventeen unions, and, approximately, 20,000 workers. For the administration of the railways in Ireland they suggested the following machinery:—(a) National Board to be appointed, consisting of sixteen members, five of whom might be taken from among the heads of the principal branches of administration: five should be representatives of various vocations (manual and clerical working) employed; five should be appointed to represent the interests of consumers and of the community as a whole; while a principal Executive officer should preside. This was, quite frankly, to entrust the administration in each case to a body, the large majority of which would be either engaged as principal officers in the service, or would be representatives of vocations to which the bulk of the employés belonged, with the minority representing the interests of the remainder of the public.

A LOAN OF £200.

CORK FARMER'S STRANGE STORY.

At the Cork Republican Police Court yesterday an extraordinary case of alleged fraud by false pretences was heard, in which it was stated that the accused alleged that he was an official of the Provisional Government, who had been sent to Cork to inspect the Victoria Military Barracks and to report on the health of the troops, and to take over the police barracks.

Gerald P. Fitzgerald was charged with obtaining £180 from John J. Kearney, a West Cork farmer, who had sold out his farm owing to the conditions prevailing in the country, and was about to emigrate to America.

The evidence was to the effect that the accused, on learning of Kearney's intentions, represented to him that he had been appointed managing director of a great Australian firm, and, on an undertaking to give him employment in it at £10 a week and expenses, he borrowed £200.

To the solicitor for the accused, Kearney denied that he had been hypnotised.

The case is proceeding.

QUESTION OF HONOURS.

PREMIER AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

Colonel Gretton, in the House of Commons yesterday, called the Speaker's attention to a question which had been refused at the table, asking the Prime Minister if he could give a definite assurance that no money or other consideration of money value had been paid or passed in connection with any of the honours recommended by the Prime Minister as announced in the list on the 3rd of June.

He said that the question had been carefully drafted, so as in no way to suggest an infringement of the undoubted and unchallenged Royal Prerogative. Further, it was not suggested that any improper inducement had been offered to the Crown in any shape or form. There had been debates more than once in the House upon this question, when complaints had been made that money had been subscribed to party funds in connection with the recommendations made for the bestowal of honours. The intention of the question was to insure that the advice offered to the Crown should not be influenced by money considerations offered to Ministers or to party funds. (Hear, hear.)

The Speaker, in reply, quoted several rulings by his predecessor, Mr. Speaker Lowther, and said that the result of these rulings was that this matter could be raised on a motion, but could not be properly raised at question time or in debate in Supply. He could not see his way to depart in any respect from those rulings.

Colonel Gretton—May I ask the Prime Minister if he will give facilities for the discussion of this subject, which is of great public interest?

Mr. G. Locker Lampson—Is the Prime Minister aware that there is already a motion on the paper, supported by 100 members of his own party?

Mr. Lloyd George said that with regard to the time he naturally consulted those who had been making a forecast of the time at their disposal. That time was now very limited, and the time allotted for the programme of the session had already been exceeded. Even if there was no additional business, the House would have to sit very much later than the Government had hoped, and an autumn session might be necessary to deal with the Irish Constitution. He was by no means ruling out the possibility of a discussion. The Government had no objection to a discussion. All he desired was that the same principle should be applied to all Administrations. He should like to know what was the character of the inquiry, and how far it was going to extend.

Lord Robert Cecil asked whether the Prime Minister did not think that he was doing great harm, not only to the Government, but to the purity of public life, if no adequate reply was given.

METHOD FREQUENTLY AFFIRMED

Mr. Lloyd George said that during the last forty years the matter had been raised, and the House had repeatedly reaffirmed the present method.

Answering Colonel Gretton, Mr. Lloyd George said that the House was in complete command of its own time. All he wanted the House to realise was that a certain amount of business had to be got through, and this proposal would mean an addition to that business.

Mr. G. Locker-Lampson—Would the Prime Minister consent, supposing 200 members signed a request?

No reply was given.

Mr. Lloyd George, answering Mr. Godfrey Locker-Lampson, said that, as already explained, the various departments supplied him with recommendations for honours for his consideration.

Mr. Locker Lampson—Any other recommendations?

Mr. Lloyd George—Oh, yes. Recommendations come from every quarter. (Laughter.)

Lord H. Cavendish-Bentinck—Was the honour conferred on Sir J. Robinson suggested by one of the departments?

Mr. Locker Lampson—Is a description of services rendered appended to the list which the Prime Minister submits to the King?

Mr. Lloyd George—Certainly.

Sir F. Banbury asked whether, as the question had been discussed in the House of Lords, it could not be debated in the House of Commons?

Colonel Ashley—Is the amount paid for these honours also added?

Colonel Gretton—Does the right hon. gentleman receive recommendations from the Patronage Secretary or from any of the Party Whips?

Mr. Lloyd George—In that respect I have followed the precedent acted upon by every Prime Minister. Recommendations certainly come from the Patronage Secretary.

IRISH PAGEANT OF INDUSTRY.

Manufacturers who desire to take part in the Pageant of Industry which is being organised by the Dublin Industrial Development Association in connection with Aonach Tailteann should note that entries for the Pageant will close on 4th July. A very satisfactory number of firms is participating, and some of the larger manufacturers are sending as many as six or seven vehicles, decorated and bearing tableaux illustrative of their industry, while others are arranging to show novel advertising devices. Three Aonach Tailteann medals will be awarded to the firms making the three best displays, and medals will also be given to the designers of each of the prize-winning shows.

HOLLES STREET HOSPITAL.

SUGGESTED NEW BUILDING.

The Lord Mayor of Dublin presided at the annual meeting of the National Maternity Hospital, Holles street, Dublin, yesterday.

In moving the adoption of the annual report, Sir Edward Coey-Bigger paid a tribute to the work that had been done on behalf of the hospital by the late Sir James Murphy, an original member of the Board, who always took a deep interest in the affairs of the hospital, and was a generous subscriber to its funds. The hospital had lost a true friend, and Dublin one of its most respected and esteemed citizens.

DUBLIN'S HOSPITALS.

The hospital had undergone a number of improvements and alterations which had entailed a large expenditure. It was hoped that an effort would be made to build a new hospital to take the place of the present one, a building which would be worthy of the reputation and name which the hospital bore. It seemed a great pity to have to continually incur yearly the necessarily large expenditure on repairs which the present building required.

It was well known that the housing conditions in Dublin were deplorable, and that one-third of the population were living in one-room dwellings, and, while it was too dreadful to think that such large numbers of families should be brought up under such conditions, it was still more distressing to think that children should be born in such surroundings. It was some consolation to think that Dublin was well supplied with maternity hospitals which had a high reputation throughout the world, and the National Maternity Hospital had contributed in no small way to that reputation. He did no suggest, however, that the existence of the maternity hospitals in Dublin should in any way interfere with the provision of proper housing conditions which was so urgently required.

Medical men and nurses were trained here, who afterwards went to all parts of the world, and in that way countless numbers benefited by the training and experience which they received there. If all the patients who had benefited by the services of those who had been taught in this hospital would recognise their indebtedness to this institution, it would never be in want of funds, and he suggested that when an appeal was being made for funds to build the new National Maternity Hospital a request might be sent to all the medical men and nurses who had been trained there to ask them to raise subscriptions towards the building fund.

Mr. Joseph Murphy seconded the resolution, and said that he agreed with Sir Edward Coey-Bigger as to the spending of so much money on repairs to the hospital. He remarked that individual subscribers seemed to have fallen off in number.

THE REPORTS.

The report, which was passed unanimously, stated that the hospital had at last succeeded in keeping the amount of the expenditure within that of the receipts, and the Bambinello Bazaar had freed it from debt, leaving a sufficient sum in hand to remove all anxiety as to the immediate future. The Governors were happy to be able to report a continuance of this satisfactory state of affairs. The receipts for the year exceeded the disbursements by £1,913 10s. 9d., but nearly the entire of the surplus will be required to meet the balance due for the heating and sterilising plant, and the cost of painting and other works now being executed.

The medical report showed that there were 1,098 admissions to the wards of the hospital—751 to the maternity and 347 to the gynæcological wards, and in the extern maternity 797 patients were attended at their own homes, and 4,199 patients attended the dispensary.

Mr. P. J. Brady moved:—"That this hospital is worthy of support." The work carried on there, he said, was of such a character as to make a powerful appeal to the people, not only in Dublin, but throughout Ireland.

Councillor Daly, in seconding the resolution, said that he had found great pleasure in going through the building and noting the arrangements for the comfort of the patients.

Sir Andrew Horne proposed a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor for presiding.

Sir Edward Coey Bigger, in supporting the motion, said that he had never met a Lord Mayor who had thrown himself so heartily into work for the poor.

The Lord Mayor said that he hoped that the authorities would give the hospital more support than they had received in the past. It was a lamentable thing that an hospital like this should have to depend upon outside subscriptions. It should be supported by the State. He wished the hospital every success in the future.

The proceedings concluded.

RAILWAY AMALGAMATION.

THE SOUTHERN GROUP.

A circular was issued to the shareholders, from the Secretary's Office of the South-Eastern Railway Company, London Bridge Station, yesterday, stating that a provisional agreement, preluding a preliminary amalgamation scheme under the Railways Act, 1921, has been entered into between the Boards of the South-Eastern and London, Chatham, and Dover Railway Companies and the South-Eastern and Chatham Railway Committee for the amalgamation of the two companies, and the Managing Committee, as from 1st January, 1922, into a new company, to be named the South-Eastern and Chatham Railway Company.

The provisional agreement has been entered into, it is stated by the directors, in the interests of stockholders, as a necessary preliminary to the opening of negotiations with the Boards of the London, Brighton, and South Coast Railway and the London and South-Western Railway regarding the terms and conditions of amalgamation with those companies under the grouping scheme of the Railways Act.

When these negotiations are concluded a further communication will be sent to stockholders.

Under the scheme the whole of the South-Eastern debenture capital will be converted into one 4 p.c. "PORT CAMPBELL'S" TRIALS.

The Port Campbell left the South Yard of Messrs. Workman, Clark, and Company, Ltd., Belfast, on Tuesday, and proceeded down the Lough to adjust compasses and carry out official trials. This vessel is a handsomely modelled twin-screw steamer, built to the order of the Commonwealth and Dominion Line, Ltd., and will be used by them in their Australian and New Zealand service. The registered dimensions are 480.8 x 62.45 x 32.9, with a gross tonnage of about 8,310 tons. There are five large cargo holds arranged for the carriage of meat and general cargoes, and the cargo gear is of the latest type, the large number of winches and derricks being specially arranged for the expeditious handling of cargoes.

The machinery, which was also built by Messrs. Workman, Clark, and Co., Ltd., consists of two sets of triple expansion reciprocating engines, with ample boiler power, and the speed of the vessel is 12½ knots. The owners were represented on board by Mr. A. Macdonald, and the vessel, after a successful trial, proceeded to Glasgow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

BALBRIGGAN HOSIERY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Your leading article of to-day dealing with the compensation awarded to the owners of a destroyed hosiery factory at Balbriggan would lead one to suppose that hosiery manufacture is in danger of extinction in Balbriggan. Such, however, is not the case.

There were two hosiery factories in Balbriggan, the one destroyed, owned by Deedes Templer and Co., Ltd., being the smaller concern and established thirty years ago. The other factory, which is the original factory, established 160 years ago, is the factory whose products have made the name of Balbriggan famous the world over. It is still running under its original name of Smyth and Company, Limited, and its business is growing so much that considerable extensions of buildings and machinery have had to be erected, of recent years, to cope with its increased business. We shall be obliged if you will give us this opportunity of correcting the wrong impression created by your article—an impression which, if not corrected, might have a very harmful effect upon this important industry, which is in no danger of extinction, but, on the contrary, is very much alive and prosperous.

Your hope that something may be done to set the destroyed factory going again has our good wishes for its success.—Yours, etc.,

THOMAS E. HUDMAN, Secretary,
Smyth and Co., Ltd.

THE RAILWAY COMMISSION.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—I have read with much interest the reports of the fourteen days' evidence which has been taken and has elucidated the position in which employers of labour in most industries are placed, and the insatiable demand still made by the representatives of labour.

Still the Labour representatives cry, "More, more." The natural sequence is what we see now in every trade—more and more unemployment. Is it right that, when the grievance does not now exist, these men should deliberately set themselves to make those they represent dissatisfied with their lot in life, well knowing that what they propose is not capable of accomplishment, and, at the same time, frightening those who would be willing to invest money in the country on any reasonable margin of security? I have seen portions of Scripture quoted lately and I shall now quote another—namely, "In all labour there is profit, but the talk of the lips tends only to penury." I commend these words to the agitator as being my own experience as a business man for over half a century.—Yours, etc.,

ART FOR WORKERS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—In reference to Mr. F. W. Ryan's very interesting and instructive address to the Dublin Rotary Club, I think that visits and lectures in our National and Municipal Art Galleries might be organised for the benefit of the working classes and those more favoured persons who would, I am sure, be glad to avail themselves of such opportunities to become better acquainted with the art treasures in these institutions. During a recent visit to London I was impressed with the advantage of such lectures in the National and Tate Galleries. I do not see why the same thing cannot be done here. A few years ago Mr. Ryan asked me to take on a class in drawing for juvenile workers, and the results, I am glad to say, were excellent. Many of the boys showed decided talent, and all were highly interested in the subject. When, with Mr. Ryan, I arranged for them a visit to the National Gallery, a new world seemed to reveal itself to their delighted eyes.

Now that, I trust, there is a prospect of more settled conditions, these classes and visits might with very great advantage to the community be resumed.—Yours, etc.,

HOW TO READ.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—Your correspondent is quite right in his general rule for reading that prepositions must not be stressed; but he is extraordinarily unfortunate in the example he has chosen. The passage in the Nicene Creed—"God of God, Light of Light," etc.—is one of those places where the preposition is the important word, and, therefore, must be stressed, and strongly stressed, or else the passage takes a sense quite different from what its authors meant. In this passage the word "of" represents the Greek preposition ek in the original, and means "proceeding from." Whenever I hear a clergyman recite the Nicene Creed without stressing the word "of" in this place I think, "That man does not know his theology."

Another place in the same Creed where a preposition ought to be stressed, or else the meaning is lost, is: "By Whom all things were made." The word "by" is the Greek dia ("by means of"); and the sentence means that the Son of God is not the Author of Nature, but the instrument of the Author. Moreover, the failure to stress the word "by" makes it appear that the preceding word "Father" is the antecedent of the relative pronoun "Whom," which is not the case. Another case, again from one of the Creeds, where the sense requires the stressing of a preposition is: "The Holy Ghost is of the Father and of the Son" (Athanasian Creed). We might multiply instances.

I feel sure that the late Chancellor Tisdall was too good a scholar, as well as elocutionist, not to stress the prepositions in the passages mentioned, especially in the first one from the Nicene Creed.—Yours, etc.,

W. F. A. ELLISON.

Armagh, June 24th, 1922.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

Sir,—A correspondent in last Saturday's issue of your paper writes very properly that only the chief words should be emphasised, and that common-sense will tell one that the prepositions should not be stressed. He is most unfortunate in the particular expression that he mentions. He says that in "God of God" the "of" should not be emphasised. Acquaintance with the original Greek of the Nicene Creed, and with the meaning of the expression, would have told him the exact opposite. To bring out the meaning of "God of God," the "of" must be strongly emphasised.

Mr. R. J. Ball, in his book: "How to read the Liturgy" (page 75) refers to the not emphasising of the "of" as a "gross error." "Of," when used as the sign of the possessive case, and not emphatic by antithesis, should be pronounced "ŏv"; but here it is not the sign of the possessive case, but a preposition signifying "out of." Therefore, in each case, the "of" should be pronounced "fully and forcibly." Unless in each case strong emphasis is placed on the "of" the meaning of the words is obscured. Dean Gwynn used to point this out very clearly when lecturing to the Divinity students.—Yours, etc.,

DR. RATHENAU'S FUNERAL.

PUBLIC MOURNING.

BERLIN, Tuesday.

Long before the hour fixed for the funeral of Dr. Rathenau the Reichstag and the streets near the building were crowded with people, in spite of occasional heavy showers of rain.

Flags on all public buildings and at the Embassies were flown at half-mast, but only very few private buildings and hotels displayed any signs of mourning.

The lobbies of the Reichstag and Chamber itself were filled with wreaths and flowers, and all parts of the House, including the Diplomatic gallery and public galleries, were packed. Dr. Rathenau's mother was escorted to a central seat by the Chancellor.

The coffin, draped with the Republican flag, was placed in a catafalque erected behind the Reichstag President's chair.

Everyone rose as President Ebert entered the Reichstag. In his funeral oration Herr Ebert eulogised the dead man's services in the political and economic spheres and his spirit of self-sacrifice, and declared that the nefarious deed which had deprived him of his life was a blow against the whole of Germany, against the Republic, and the very idea of democracy.

After speeches by the Vice-President of the Reichstag and a representative of the Democratic Party, the coffin was carried out through the main exit, where a company of the Reichswehr paid honours. The coffin was placed in a motor hearse which left immediately for the family vault at Obershoeneweibe, on the outskirts of Berlin, close to the works of the Allgemeine Elektric Itaets Gesellschaft, of which Dr. Rathenau was President.

The crowds dispersed quietly, President Ebert being loudly cheered.

At noon a 24-hours' demonstration strike began in all banks and shops. All the restaurants were closed and the trams and local railways stopped running.

Mr. Lloyd George's message to the Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, expressing his deep regret at Dr. Rathenau's murder, is published here officially.—(Reuter.)

LABOUR UNREST IN VIENNA.

VIENNA, Tuesday.

The railway, postal, and telegraph communications were resumed this morning, the strikers having yielded on the understanding that the Government immediately introduces a bill making the price index figure the basis of wages of the State employés. The tramway strike continues to the great indignation of the public.—(Reuter.)

According to the Matin, the French Government, as well as the British, is working for the extradition of Mr. Gerard Lee Bevan.

U.S. MARKETS.

STOCKS CLOSED HEAVY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.)

NEW YORK, Tuesday.

A collapse in Mexican Petroleum from the opening price of 200 to 182 and the maintenance of stiff money rates caused the abandonment of bullish operations, and selling took place for both accounts. Pan-American Petroleum fell 6, and other Oils and Tobaccos, Steels, Equipments, and Railroads were depressed 1 to 3 points. The market closed heavy.

OBITUARY.

CAPTAIN WEATHERILL.

The announcement of the death, which occurred at a late hour on Monday night, of Captain Weatherill will be read with general regret by his fellow-citizens in Dublin, and more especially by those who were associated with him, or did business through him, in the shipping interest. In addition to being a fairly large shipowner himself, Captain Weatherill acted as agent for the direct service between New York and Irish ports, which was established by the Moore and McCormick Company. He was the founder of the firm of Weatherill and Sons. Two of the steam vessels belonging to the firm—The Princetown and Kingstown—are engaged in the cross-Channel coal trade. Captain Weatherill was for some years a useful member of the Dublin Port and Docks Board, whose flag was flown yesterday at half-mast in token of respect to his memory. He was also associated for some time with the Board of the Irish Lights Commissioners. He was generally regarded as an enterprising and shrewd man of business. Captain Weatherill resided at Ailesbury road, Merrion

RAILWAYMEN'S WAGES.

MORE THAN SYSTEMS CAN BEAR.

The Commission appointed by the Provisional Government to inquire into the working of the Irish railways sat yesterday at Leinster House, Kildare street, Dublin, under the chairmanship of Lord Justice O'Connor. The other members of the Commission present were:—Messrs. M. F. O'Dea, E. MacLysaght, and Thomas Johnson.

Mr. E. A. Neale, General Manager of the Great Southern and Western Railway Company, was further examined, and, in answer to Mr James Bermingham (National Union of Railwaymen), said that if there had been no political or other unrest in Ireland in recent years conditions on the railways would have been very different from what they are to-day.

Lord Justice O'Connor—We would have an easier question to deal with.

Mr. Bermingham—I think you also admitted that the railway men in pre-war days were not receiving anything like a living wage?

The Witness—I will not go that far. I think it has been wrongly called a "sweated wage." It was higher than the rate paid to the agricultural worker and to the industrial worker. A wage on which the country thrived could not be called a "sweated wage." I would like to say that the railway companies had this in their favour—my own at any rate—they were not in a position to raise the rates to give more wages. The witness admitted that the wages were low in pre-war days.

Mr. Bermingham—Do you think that one-sixth of an increase on that wage is a sufficient basis to start from? I do, with 100 per cent. added. Should there be no reductions in wages before the three millions grant was absorbed there would have to be a trial of strength on the question.

The Chairman—Would your company be prepared to face that?

Witness—It would be with great reluctance that we would take up that position.

Mr. O'Farrell (Railway Clerks' Association)—You say that unless there is a reduction in the present rate of pay there will be a lock-out in the coming month?

Witness—I hold that the railways cannot go on satisfactorily considering the present outlook.

You realise the very serious consequences of such a lock-out by the companies? I did not use the word "lock-out."

Mr. Johnson—That is what is means.

Witness, continuing, said that if nationalisation or unification meant a saving he would still oppose it.

Mr. O'Farrell—You would risk the terrible turmoil and the consequences to the whole community rather than have nationalisation? Yes.

The Chairman—He takes up the attitude of the strong man, that it is better for all concerned that the question should be fought out.

REDUCTIONS INEVITABLE.

Witness—We would like to give high wages—no one wants to reduce wages if they can help it.

Mr. O'Farrell—Do you think the time is opportune for beating down Labour? I would be the very last to take that view. Witness added that he hoped when they put their position before Labour that they would not maintain the attitude that nothing could be done.

To Mr. Johnson—Witness said that there was a possibility of the income of the company increasing through increased traffic and rates, and that third party consideration had to be taken into account.

Mr. O'Farrell asked if it was witness's opinion that the men were too highly paid at the present time, or that the industry could not bear the wages.

Witness said that men were too highly paid, but he did not say that applied to all grades. The industry could not bear the high wages. He would like to pay the highest wages possible if he could afford it.

To Mr. Kelly, witness said that amalgamation had been the policy of his company for the past 25 years. He agreed that competition had been eliminated by his company, and the D. and S.E. Railway was the only railway in the area that they had not yet taken over.

To Mr. O'Dea, witness said that as regards the Royal Dublin Society's Show and its falling-off, the fault was with the prevailing times, and not, as was suggested, attributable to the railway companies. The witness who said that the railway company was to blame for it was wrong. His (witness's) company were anxious to accommodate everyone, and they gave all possible facilities at Horse Show times.

In reply to Mr. Johnson, witness said that he did not want the question of reductions in Ireland and in England to run together. They would have to find their own wages in this country. He was calculating on an improvement in Ireland.

The Chairman asked what advantage over and above the increased traffic witness expected from amalgamation, as such, to his company.

Witness—There is the expectation that Ireland would improve. Witness further expected that there would be improved services as a result of amalgamation, and that the amalgamated companies would make more money.

NEWRY AND GREENORE.

Mr. Henry W. Ede was examined on behalf of the Dundalk, Newry, and Greenore Railway Company. He said that he was acting traffic manager of the company. There were two lines, from Dundalk and Newry, respectively, converging on Greenore. Each line is of single track, the total length being 26 miles 68 chains. In addition, there were 4 miles 13 chains of siding accommodation. There were 4 miles 61 chains of track situated in Co. Armagh, in Northern Ireland, and 22 miles 7 chains in Southern Ireland.

The line is connected with the Great Northern system at Dundalk, and through the port of Greenore with the London and North-Western Railway at Holyhead. The object of the line was to provide for traffic through Greenore and to promote local development.

Witness gave in detail the history of the line. The capital of the company was £320,700, and all of it was held by the London and North-Western Railway Company. The outlay had not produced any return on the capital invested, and it was estimated that the loss on the undertaking for the year 1922 would be £25,000. Even in normal times, the line had not earned sufficient to pay interest on any capital—in fact, it had always been a serious loss.

Comparing 1921 with 1913, salaries and wages had increased by £31,917, the percentages being—salaries 329 per cent, and wages 282 per cent. The salaries and wages had alone exceeded the total traffic receipts of the line, and in 1921 were equal to 73 per cent. of the total expenditure. This could not be put down to expensive management, as no directors' fees were incurred, and cost of superintendence in 1921 only totalled £340.

As to the materials, the increased cost of coal was 240 per cent., and of ballast 533 per cent.

"Turning to the question of the future policy of the railways," said witness, "the company finds it impossible at present to make any recommendation on the point, having in view the fact that the geographical situation of the undertaking is mostly in Northern Ireland and partly in Southern Ireland, and they feel that it would be useless for them to express any opinion on this point until such time as a considered railway policy for the whole of Ireland is formulated, more particularly as the Dundalk, Newry, and Greenore Railway is somewhat different from other railway companies in Ireland, because it was constructed to connect with the steamship service between Greenore and Holyhead, which has never been a paying proposition either."

WAGES AND PROFITS.

As to wages, witness said that the company felt that the only satisfactory method by which the scale of wages could be adjusted was to induce the staff and their representatives to agree that the rates of remuneration must have some relation to the success of the undertaking.

The Chairman—If that be so they will hardly get anything. (Laughter.) Do not the London and North-Western Railway run this company for their own purposes as a feeder?

Witness said that the policy of the London and North-Western Railway was to encourage Irish trade, not out of charity, but expecting sooner or later to get some return for their money. Up to the present they had not succeeded.

To Mr. Johnson—The decline in first class passenger traffic on the line was due to the falling off in English tourist traffic owing to the state of the country.

Mr. Bermingham—You are a small railway, but part and parcel of the greatest concern in the world—the London and North-Western Railway?

Witness—I shall take your word for it.

Mr. McCarthy Mahony came forward to give evidence on behalf of the West and South Clare Railway Company.

The Chairman—Your railway company are charged with almost every offence of which a railway company could be guilty? (Laughter.) In substance these charges are that the directors are what are called absentee directors, who have not the least concern for the working of the railway, because the baronies guarantee it, and the net result is that nothing has been done but what is wrong; and that the directors are nothing less than a pleasant family party in Dublin, who go down to see the place whenever the weather is agreeable.

Mr. McCarthy Mahony dealt at some length with the criticisms of the West and South Clare Railway, which had been offered before the Commission examined Mr. W. Barrington as a witness, who stated that both the West and South Clare Railways were promoted under the Tramways and Public Companies (Ireland) Act by the late Mr. W. M. Murphy. The West Clare Railway was 72 miles in length, and was opened in July, 1887, and the South Clare line, 27 miles in length, was opened in August, 1892. There was no State loan towards these lines, and the contractor had to finance the entire undertaking.

The whole capital of the West Clare line was £180,000, and of the South Clare line £140,000. An endeavour appeared to have been made to show that the ratepayers of Clare had not received value for their contributions, and witness gave in detail figures as to the cost of constructing the Clare Railways as compared with other similar undertakings in Ireland, showing that the cost of the Clare undertakings was less. The cost of similar undertakings in England was also higher than Clare. Mr. Daly, solicitor for the Clare County Council, had not brought out these facts in his evidence.

Witness, in conclusion, said that he had never suggested, and he did not think anyone else had done so, that these Clare Railways would be an El Dorado.

The Chairman—You consider that the ratepayers considered it a reasonable possibility that they might be called upon?

Witness—Certainly.

The Commission adjourned until to-day.

THE AFFAIRS OF LORD HEADLEY.

STATE OF IRELAND AS CAUSE.

The adjourned meeting of the creditors of Lord Headley was held yesterday at the offices of the Official Receiver, 29 Russell square, London, W.C.

The debtor, who filed his own petition, was described in the receiving order as "Lord Headley, the Right Hon. Sir Rowland George Allanson-Winn, and Lord Headley and Lord Allanson and Winn." He stated that he was abundantly solvent if the law would help him to realise his property.

The statement of affairs filed by the debtor showed gross liabilities of £8,385, of which £2,787 was expected to rank for dividend, while the net assets amounted to £16,481, or a surplus of nearly £14,000.

Lord Headley succeeded to his present title in 1913, but for some time, owing to the unsettled state of Ireland, he had been unable to get the rents from his estate. His principal asset was the surplus from his Irish properties, which he valued at some £13,000. He also had a claim for £2,000 against the Colonial Office for compensation for damage to the Aghadoe House estate in Ireland. He was married in February, 1921, and he stated that he agreed to settle upon his wife certain property in Ireland, but the settlement had not, in fact, been executed; and she on her part agreed to pay him £1,000 a year for life, but had only paid one instalment of £250.

Mr. Thomas Gourlay, the Official Receiver, asked if there was any likelihood of an offer being made to the creditors, and Lord Headley replied that he might be able to obtain sufficient to pay the creditors 5s. or 6s. in the £. Lord Headley went on to state that he was not responsible in any way for his present position. He declared that the law had completely broken down, and would not allow him to enforce his legal rights.

He had considerable property in Ireland, which in normal times would be sufficient to enable him to meet his liabilities in full, and would leave a surplus of capital; but owing to the disturbed condition of the country nothing could be done. The long, strong arm of the British Empire could protect its citizens in foreign countries, but could not help its people in Ireland. There appeared to be plenty of protection for the law-breakers, but nothing for law-abiding citizens. Threats of death had driven the process-servers on strike in Ireland, so that nothing could be done. There was something Gilbertian in a solvent man being forced into bankruptcy through the inability of the Courts to protect him. It was an intolerable and disgraceful state of affairs.

The Official Receiver said that he would not like it to be assumed that he endorsed the explanation of the present position which Lord Headley had given.

Resolutions were passed for the appointment of Mr. F. R. Salaman as the trustee of the estate, together with a committee of inspection, and Lord Headley consented to an order of adjudication being made.

CLOSE FINISH IN COLLEGE PARK.

TRINITY DEFEAT PHŒNIX BY ONE WICKET.

There was a good deal of rain and the light bad in the College Park yesterday when two very useful "A" teams played an exciting finish, in which Trinity pulled through by a wicket a couple of minutes before time was up. Phœnix, batting first, scored 175 for 7 wickets in an hour and fifty minutes, when the innings was declared. Carruthers, who collected 60 in fifty minutes, was top scorer, hitting seven boundaries, and though he gave a couple of chances he played a fine, forcing innings. Challoner showed fine form in putting together 49, for which he was at the wickets an hour. His only chance was at 45, and he hit 3 fours and 5 threes. Wills was the pick of the home bowlers with 3 for 27, all taken in his last over. Left with an hour and fifty-five minutes to get the runs, Trinity lost 2 wickets for 42, but King (43) and Sugden (24) added 54 for the third. Seven wickets were down for 140 and 9 for 166, but M'Clenaghan got the winning hit on the stroke of time. Messervy had 5 wickets for 75, and Allen 4 for 50. Score:—

COUNTY CHAMPIONSHIP.

YORKSHIRE V. KENT.

Dolphin's benefit match at Leeds ended early yesterday, Yorkshire beating Kent by 10 wickets. Wilson, happy in the possession of a lead of 110 runs with one wicket in hand, at once declared the Yorkshire first innings yesterday morning. Kent made a bad beginning of their second effort, losing Hardinge without a run scored, and four men were out for 23. Then Woolley, whose batting was the great outstanding feature of the innings, received useful assistance from Hurst, 50 being added for the fifth partnership in fifty-five minutes. Troughton stayed while 30 were added for the seventh wicket, but Kent were all out in two hours for 131. Woolley batted splendidly in scoring 77 out of 115 made while he was at the wickets, giving no chance and hitting six 4's. Yorkshire had only 22 to get to win, and Dolphin and Waddington got these in ten minutes, Dolphin making the winning hit at twenty-five minutes to two o'clock. Score:—

MIDDLESEX V. HAMPSHIRE.

This match at Lord's had yesterday to be left drawn, Middlesex securing the points for a lead on the first innings. As play had been seriously curtailed on Saturday, and Monday was a blank, the chance of making up for so much lost time was naturally very remote. In the hope of forcing a win, Middlesex declared their second innings closed at a quarter-past five o'clock, being at that time 205 runs ahead, but the task of getting Hampshire out on a wicket that was steadily recovering proved quite out of the question. WORCESTERSHIRE v. SOMERSET.

A decidedly interesting day's cricket was seen at Worcester yesterday. There was never a chance of a definite finish, but Somerset had no difficulty in getting the points on the first innings. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Worcester	168	51 (3)
Somerset	*222 (4)	—

DERBYSHIRE v. GLAMORGAN

Derbyshire won this match at Derby yesterday by 137 runs. They laid the foundation of this success the previous day, when, after dismissing their opponents cheaply, they secured a lead of 220 for the loss of four wickets in their second innings. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Derbyshire	177	*170 (8)
Glamorgan	63	147

LEICESTERSHIRE v. OXFORD UNIVERSITY

The outstanding feature at Leicester yesterday was a grand effort by Knott, who scored 105 not out for the 'Varsity. He was batting in all for three hours, and, excepting an easy chance when 89, he made few faulty strokes. He found extremely useful partners in Robertson-Glasgow (15) and Patten (35). The innings extended to four hours and twenty minutes, Oxford obtaining an invaluable lead of 160. Leicestershire lost four wickets for 48. Fowke (43) and Coe (49), however, added 70 in 80 minutes. Lord and Benskin played out half an hour extra time, the match being left drawn. Score:—

	1st Inns.	2nd Inns.
Leicester	121	198 (9)
Oxford	281	—

LANCASHIRE v. WARWICKSHIE.

This match was abandoned owing to rain.

ESSEX v. CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.

The match at Colchester resulted in a draw yesterday, the Light Blues keeping in all day and nearly reaching the Essex total. The honours of the day went to Fiddian Green, who played his first three-figure innings in first-class cricket—103. He was batting four hours and twenty minutes, and the steadiness of his display may be judged by the fact that his strokes included only six 4's. Score:—

M.C.C. AND CAMBRIDGE UNIVERSITY.

The M.C.C. have sent the following letter to the captain of the Cricket Club, Cambridge University:—

"Dear sir,—The M.C.C. much regret again to have to comment upon a disregard of the laws of cricket, this time at Cambridge. In the match Cambridge University v. Free Foresters it was agreed to allow a substitute on each side to bat in the second innings in the place of batsmen who had already batted in the first innings. This is not provided for in the laws, and is quite contrary to the practice observed in first-class cricket. The M.C.C. feel confident that they can rely on the Universities to support them in maintaining the laws of cricket.—Yours faithfully, F. E. Lacey, Secretary, M.C.C."

LAWN TENNIS.

WORLD'S CHAMPIONSHIPS.

MANY NATIONS REPRESENTED.

There was a welcome improvement in the weather when the World's Grass Courts Championships were continued at Wimbledon yesterday, before a great gathering of spectators. It was an attractive programme, restricted mainly to the weeding-out of the aspirants for the men's singles title, and there were some notable matches, with interest largely centred in the appearance at Wimbledon for the first time of H. Cochet, the brilliant young Frenchman, who holds the World's Championship for covered and hard courts, and J. O. Anderson, the new Australian "star." They both won their preliminary matches, but in each case they were fully extended. After Monday's rain the players found the courts heavy. Bisseker, the Midlander, though beaten by Alonso, the Spaniard, came out of the match with much credit. He was two sets down, and then took the next two sets, and went down in the deciding set with colours flying. Weakley, the boy champion, was given very few chances by Von Braun, the Swede; but the fight of the day was that between Cochet and Crawley, the stylist, and, perhaps, Crawley has never been seen to greater advantage. He played brilliant tennis against a tremendously strong opponent, and with just a little luck he might have beaten the dangerous Frenchman. In the fourth set he was within a point of the match at 5-4, but Cochet pulled the set round, and, outlasting his rival, won the next, and with it the match. It was a great game, and, as usual, youth told its inevitable tale at the finish. Turnbull fought gallantly against the tall thin Australian, Anderson, as the scores below would indicate. Mishu, the Rumanian, beat Casanovas, of Portugal, with comparative ease. Norton, the dazzling young South African, got over the first jump without much difficulty; while the veteran Mavrogordato put Sherwell out in convincing style. Results:—

BOXING.

JIM HIGGINS BEATEN.

Much interest was centred in the 20 rounds contest at Liverpool on Monday night between Jim Higgins, British bantam light-weight champion, and Tommy Harrison, Hanley. There was no championship at stake, but the contest was under the full championship conditions. Harrison on weighing in was over weight, and consequently the belt was not involved. It was a hard, rugged fight, and in the thirteenth round Higgins was counted out. Both men were cautioned more than once for infringements, but Harrison had the better of the fight all through, and was entitled to his win.

TAILTEANN TRIALS.

A fair entry, including several newcomers, has been received for the Leinster fly-weight trials, to take place this evening at 8 o'clock at the Banba Hall. At the trials held at Aonac Ultain some weeks ago the fly-weights were easily the most numerous, and the bouts were very interesting. Some good sport should, therefore, be witnessed at the re-trials.

EXCITEMENT IN BALLINASLOE.

There was a good deal of excitement in Ballinasloe on Monday night, when some men of the I.R.A., who are stationed there, alleged that they were insulted by civilians, who called them "Clare Black-and-Tans." They came into conflict with some of the population, and one man was injured. The troops were not armed. After a time a strong picket was sent into the streets, and everyone was ordered to be within doors at 11 o'clock. Since the arrival of the troops in the town disorders, which were frequent previously, have ceased.

PRODUCE & FOOD.

CATTLE.

LEEDS, Tuesday.—Good supply of cattle and sheep. Slow demand, and prices unchanged. On offer—400 beasts, 10d. to 1/2½; sheep 1,965, 1/1 to 1/10; lambs 1/8 to 1/10; dairy cows 4, £30 to £43 each. Few pigs, 15/- per stone.

WAKEFIELD, Tuesday.—More sheep, less cattle, and low demand. Best beef 1/1 to 1/1½ per lb., other 9½d. to 10½d.; small sheep 1/10 per lb., medium 1/9, large 1/8; ewes 1/- to 1/3, tups 9d., lambs 1/8 to 1/10. Beasts, 305; sheep, 1,193.

SALFORD, Tuesday.—Owing to prevalence of foot-and-mouth disease, there was again no market at Salford to-day. There is, however, a plentiful supply of meat to hand from other quarters.

NEWCASTLE, Tuesday.—The city being in a scheduled area, owing to foot-and-mouth disease, there was no market. About 70 wagons of live stock arrived, however, under permit, and these were disposed of. Retail prices were about the same.

BIRMINGHAM, Tuesday.—Values improving for pigs. Demand for beef good for small supplies licensed at local stations for immediate slaughter, market still being closed. Bacons 22/- per score dead weight, small pigs 20/- to 21/- sows 16/.

GRAIN.

DUBLIN CORN EXCHANGE REPORT, Tuesday.—There is absolutely nothing fresh or important to record here. The attendance is of the most meagre description, and business of a retail nature, in which values have little or no reliable basis. For ordinary arrivals, prices are still around 21/- to 21/6 per barrel for black oats, ex rail, but few parcels of Irish white oats of commercial value are available, and prices are uncertain.

FLOATING GRAIN CARGOES—BALTIC, Tuesday. WHEAT—Cargo market quiet, and occasionally the turn easier. Pacific Aug.-Sept. sellers 50/6, No. 2 hard winter Sept. 51/6, Australian afloat 53/-. Sale—The Thrasyvoulos, 6,160 tons Rosafe 63½lbs. 10th June sold 52/6. Parcels lower. No. 1 Northern Manitoba July sold 54/9, No. 2 hard winter July-Aug. 49/3 sellers, Australian afloat 52/6, and Rosafe 63½lbs. June-July 51/9 per 480lbs. MAIZE in fair demand, and 3d. to 6d. per qr. dearer for cargoes. Plate steamers afloat sellers 36/3 to 36/6, July 35/6, Aug. 36/-. Parcels steady. Plate May-June sold 35/6, June-July 34/3, and July-Aug. 33/10½ per 480lbs. BARLEY quiet, unaltered. OATS steady. Plate f.a.q. June-July buyers 25/3, and No. 2 white clipped American 38lbs. June quoted 25/6 per 320lbs.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—WHEAT—American cables turned out worse than expected, and, with the recovery in sterling exchange, speculative positions of wheat here commenced on a lower level, and further gave way on free sellers. Prices afterwards recovered partially and fluctuated slightly, finishing over worst point, though still showing a fair decline on the day. C.i.f. parcels No. 1 Manitoba June-July sold at 54/9, No. 3 15th July 49/3, No. 2 hard winter July-August 48/3, No. 2 red 47/3 to 47/6, Rosario-Santa Fe (63½lbs.) June-July 51/3 to Liverpool, and latter June to Manchester 51/6 per qr. C.i.f. parcels MAIZE River Plate afloat sold at 36/-, loading 35/9 to 36/-, American mixed afloat 30/4½, arrived 36/3, and yellow American 15th July 31/- per qr. Wheat on the spot was unchanged to 1d. per cental lower than Friday, with a moderate consumptive business reported. Maize spot parcels steady at 6/10 to 6/10½ for old crop American mixed, 6/9 to 6/9½ new, and 8/6 to 8/7 for new crop River Plate, supply of old being practically exhausted. FLOUR quiet but not quotably altered. Graded red wheat futures opened ½d. to 1d. lower, and further gave way until 1½d. to 1¾d. under last night had been registered. Then values recovered somewhat, with slight fluctuations, the market closing quiet at ½d. to 1½d. per cental loss on the day.

PROVISIONS.

LIVERPOOL, Tuesday.—BACON—Values of both live hogs and speculative products were easier at Chicago, but arrivals at this port only of a moderate character, and little material change took place in the situation for bacon here. Holders were steady and asked late prices for all selections, a moderate inquiry being experienced for American Wiltshires, while bellies continued to move fairly, but Cumberlands still slow, though long clears and backs firm on scarcity. HAMS offered rather more freely, and, with buyers operating less freely, short cut are reduced 1/- to 141/- to 148/- per cwt., but others unchanged. Shoulders steady and held for late rates, with picnics still nominal. Canadian Wiltshires remain quietly steady and unaltered. Irish and Continental steady, with demand about equal to supply. LARD on the spot is easier for prime steam at 67/6 to 68/6, but American refined quiet but steady at late rates. CHEESE still sparingly offered and dearer at 98/- to 100/- for Canadian coloured, with some white now available at 100/- to 103/- per cwt. BUTTER scarce at full prices for Danish and Irish, while Australian is now on offer at 226/- to 228/- and Canadian 226/- to 230/- per cwt. EGGS in limited supply and still tended upwards. Irish hen quoted 16/6 to 17/6 per 120.

PATRICK KEHOE, LTD., Irish Bacon Curers and Lard Refiners, Importers of American Provisions. (Estd. 100 years.)—103 FRANCIS ST., DUBLIN.—(Advt.)

MANCHESTER, Tuesday.—BUTTER—The butter market is firm, and values are showing an upward tendency. Danish quoted 230/- to 234/-, Finnish 225/- to 228/-, and Irish 224/- to 226/- per cwt. Colonial descriptions nominal. BACON is a firm market, and prices are moving in sellers' favour. LARD—English refined quoted 73/6. CHEESE firm, especially New Zealand, which is quoted 106/- to 108/- for coloured, and 108/- for white per cwt. delivered Manchester. EGGS have a bare market. Irish quoted 16/6 to 17/3, Danish 16/6 to 18/9, and Bulgarians 13/3 to 13/6 per 120.

DUBLIN WHOLESALE POTATO MARKET, Tuesday.—For old potatoes there is an improved trade for prime Skerries, especially those of known character, and country prices have been advanced 10/- per ton on such. Locally, there is practically no change in the general position for old potatoes. Skerries still figure around 8/- per cwt., and Dates, etc., 6/6 to 7/-, mostly latter price, for best stuff. There was a big and rather over-supply of new Co. Dublin potatoes forward this morning, which averaged 2/- to 2/6 per stone. Our vegetable market auction sales were suspended when biddings fell under 2/-. More care should certainly be observed in sizing and excluding hazards.

DUBLIN FRUIT AND VEGETABLE MARKET, Tuesday.—Imported fruits, etc., in good average supply, with a quiet sale. Australian apples 14/- to 18/- per box. Oranges—504 cases, 30/- to 32/-, others 25/- to 30/-; cherries (French) 24/- to 26/- and 27/6 per half-bushel. Strawberries very backward for season. Co. Dublin 1/6 to 2/6 per lb., selected in lb. boxes 2/- to 4/6; punnets 2/- to 2/6; gooseberries average 5d. to 7d. per quart, 10/- to 12/- per tray and float, selected 14/-; Irish tomatoes 10/- to 12/- per strike, selected small parcels 1/- to 1/3 per lb., English 10/- to 11/- per strike. Vegetables keep in liberal supply, and a downward trend in values. Cabbage met a sharp fall, but prime good hearted sorts still making relatively big money. Rhubarb 2/- to 3/6 and 4/6 per dozen bunches, carrots 1/6 to 2/- and 2/6 ditto; York cabbage 40/- to 60/-, 74/-, and 80/- per load, extra big loads 90/- to 100/- and 110/-, also Yorks 4/6 to 5/- per bag; cauliflowers 6/- to 7/6 and 8/- per dozen, seconds 3/- to 4/3; salad 2d. to 4d. and 6d., special 1/- to 1/6 per dozen; scallions 4d. to 9d. per bundle, onions 9d. to 1/6; kidney beans 2/- to 2/6 per lb., peas 3/- and 4/- to 4/6, 5/-, and 6/- per float, tray, etc.; white turnips 10d. to 1/2 and 1/6 per bundle, celery 6d. to 1/-, vegetable marrows 2/6 and 2/9 each, radishes 3d. to 4d. per dozen bunches, new potatoes 1/6 to 2/4 and 2/6 per stone; parsley 3d. to 8d. per tray, and 1/6 per bag; cucumbers 3/- to 6/- and 8/- per dozen, thyme 4d. to 6d. per bunch, mint 2d. to 4d. and 6d.

LITTLE GREEN EGG AND BUTTER MARKET, Tuesday.—There has been a further sharp rise in prices on this market, due principally to the cross-Channel lead and off-take of stuff at this side. Creamery butter is tolerably plentiful, and farmers' consignments arriving more freely. Altogether the supply more than well covers the demand at the moment, and evidently values are near, if not actually at, their zenith, as it is apparent that a mark-time and more cautious feeling is growing in the trade. Prime standard creams now rate 2/- to 2/0½ per lb., secondary descriptions from 1/9 to 1/10½ and 1/11 per lb.; farmers' fine separators make 1/7½ to 1/8½, cools from 1/4 to 1/7, and lumps, etc., 1/2½ to 1/4½ per lb., according to character. No factory butter on this market at present. The egg supply and demand is tolerably well balanced, but the unsatisfactory character of arrivals and the biggish proportion of stale eggs are making trade cautious, so that people are handling as little eggs as they can under the circumstances. Sending forward stale and mixed consignments is sure to have a very unsatisfactory and deteriorating effect on business later on, in which the consignee suffers in the worst degree. Choice case hen eggs run from 15/6 to 17/6, selected and re-packed 18/6 to 20/- per 120; medium classes 13/- to 14/6, smalls and doubtfuls from 11/- to 12/9 per 120. Duck eggs of tested and selected character can only be satisfactorily dealt in, and for best classes values are about par with hen eggs. Generally, however, prices are unquotable for duck eggs.

HALSTON STREET POULTRY MARKET, Tuesday.—Supplies of chickens continue to show a seasonable expansion, and values are correspondingly easing, but there is practically no quotable change in other sections of this market. Ducklings are firm. Fowl fairly plentiful, but maintaining previous rates steadily. Generally, the market has not yet assumed its normal seasonable dimensions or activity. Chickens 1/8 to 1/9 and 1/10 per lb., crammed 1/10 per lb. dead; heavy fat hens alive and dead 3/- to 3/6, others 2/- to 2/6 each; prime ducklings 4/6 to 5/6 each, seconds 2/5 to 3/6; old ducks 9/- per dozen, young pigeons 1/-, best fresh rabbits 10d. each, graziers 2/- to 8/-, and full-grown 10/- per dozen; guinea fowl 4/- each.

DUBLIN FISH MARKET, Tuesday.—Moderate supply of fish on market, including 310 boxes of stuff from two steamers, some country arrivals, and a few dozen boxes from Ringsend; also 42 packages salmon, 12 chests lobsters, and a small consignment of Howth herrings and mackerel. Trade all round good. Salmon 1/9 to 2/2 per lb., grilse 1/6 to 1/8 and 1/9, first pick lobsters 10/- to 15/- per 13, seconds 5/- to 7/6, others 2/- to 4/- per lot; turbot 6d. to 10/-, 15/-, and 17/6 each; brill 6d. to 5/- and 6/- each, best soles 30/- to 50/- per 9 pairs, mediums 20/- to 25/-; slips 5/- to 12/6 per 9 pairs, large plaice 6/- to 8/- per 4, others 5/- to 8/- per 8; half-boxes plaice 40/- to 90/-; a few nice lots of Ringsend plaice up to £5, white soles 40/- to 55/-, whiting 30/- to 40/-, poor sorts 12/6 to 25/-; hake 40/- to 80/-, codfish 25/- to 50/-, haddocks 30/- to 50/-, pollock 20/- to 30/-, ling 15/- to 20/-, conger eels 20/- to 30/-, ray 15/- to 25/-, gurnard 2/6 to 5/- and 6/-. Howth herrings around 62/-.

LONDON POTATO, Tuesday.—Market steadier on lighter arrivals, with a fair trade passing. English kidneys 19/- to 20/-, Epicures 15/- to 16/-, Jerseys 22/- per cwt.; Cherbourgs 16/- to 17/- box, St. Malo 19/- to 20/- per cwt. bag.

POPULAR MOTOR CAR.

NEW MAXWELL MODEL.

The merits of the new model Maxwell motor car were demonstrated in Dublin yesterday in the presence of a large company of Irish motor agents, and the tests to which it was submitted greatly impressed the experts.

The outstanding features of this model are a lengthened frame, longer springs, lower and more comfortable body, steel disc wheels, with detachable rims; the Alemite shackle lubrication system, neat side curtain equipment, with a receptacle for holding it when not in use; aluminium pistons in place of cast iron; ease of brake adjustment, and real leather upholstery. The engine is a four-cylinder L-head, with detachable head, having a bore of 3⅝ inches and a stroke of 4½ inches. Thus it is identical with the previous model, except aluminium alloy pistons are now employed. The valves are completely enclosed, but access can readily be obtained by removing a neat cover plate.

A complaint often levelled against American cars is that they are very high from the ground, but this cannot be urged against the new model Maxwell, for both in body lines and ground clearance it closely approximates British car practice. Great attention has also been given to the all-weather equipment. All the controls of the car come readily to hand, while the instrument board is particularly neat, and a Yale-type key is provided to lock the ignition. The Maxwell has always enjoyed a wide popularity in Ireland, but the new model seems certain to enjoy even greater patronage in the future. It is eminently suited to Irish conditions.

At a luncheon subsequently given in the Hibernian Hotel, Mr. A. de la Poer, Managing Director, London, who presided, referred to the slump which prevailed in the motor trade for the past few years in Ireland, but now the silver lining was showing itself. In the new Maxwell car they believed that they had an article which was beyond competition.

Mr. Summerfield (Messrs. H. Ferguson, Ltd.) said that as soon as they got conditions under which business could be done he believed that the Maxwell car would have as heavy a sale as that of the Ford in Ireland.

The health of Mr. E. V. Hookham, Irish Sales Manager, was cordially honoured.

Mr. H. A. Davis, Maxwell and Chalmers Motor Corporations, Detroit, also spoke, and said that the Maxwell was the outstanding car in America.

MISCELLANEOUS.

DUBLIN HAY AND STRAW MARKET, Smithfield, Tuesday.—The supply of old hay was in much narrower compass on market this morning, and cleared quickly at a firm repetition of previous rates. New season's hay, on the other hand, came in in increased quantity, and experienced a slow, dragging, and uncertain sale. It appears rather injudicious to load new hay in its present condition, and particularly in view of damp and unsettled weather. Straw continues scarce and abnormally dear. Quotations:—Choice Co. Dublin 1st crop hay scarce at 12/6 to 13/- per cwt, country 1st and 2nd crop 11/6 to 12/- and 12/3; medium strong hay 10/6 to 11/6; prime old meadow 10/-, 10/6, and 11/-, other sorts 6/- to 8/- and 9/6; new hay (strong) 7/3 to 8/- and 8/6 per cwt., medium, etc., 5/- to 6/- and 7/- per cwt; straw averaged 9/6 to 9/9 and 10/-, inferior about 9/- per cwt.

LONDON HAY AND STRAW, Tuesday.—Market steady, with a fair trade passing. Best meadow hay £7 5/- to £7 10/-, medium £5 10/- to £5 15/-, inferior £4 to £4 10/-, clover £7 15/- to £8, best mixture £7 10/- to £7 15/-, trussed wheaten straw 70/- to 75/-, barley and oaten 80/- to 85/- per ton, delivered in London.

LIVERPOOL COTTON (Closing), Tuesday.—American fair request. Brazilian quotations reduced 9 points. East Indian unchanged. Egyptian quieter. June 12.86d., July 12.69d., August 12.60d., September 12.50d., October 12.39d., November 12.29d. Sales, 10,000 bales. Imports, 5,618 bales. Market steady.

MANCHESTER TRADE REPORT, Tuesday.—Buyers of cloth uncertain what course to pursue by doing as little as possible. Numerous inquiries are coming forward for both India and China, but only small to moderate lines get to book. For various secondary outlets a fair demand is in evidence, but actual trade of setting-up character. In yarns, transactions are difficult to arrange.

LONDON METALS MARKET.

TIN rather easier, and in quiet demand, prices on balance being 5/- easier since Monday's close. Cash quoted £152 7/6 to £152 10/-, three months £153 7/6 to £153 12/6; settlement price, £152 10/-. Sales, 175 tons. Cash £152 7/6 to £152 10/-, late July £152 15/-, three months £153 10/-. COPPER quiet, and the turn easier, while in moderate demand Cash quoted £61 10/- to £61 12/6, three months £62 to £62 2/6; settlement price, £61 10/-. 750 tons sold; cash £61 10/-, August dates £61 15/- to £61 17/6, three months £62 2/6 to £62. Electros £69 10/- to £71, best selected £66 10/- to £68 10/-, strong sheets £94, and wire bars £71. LEAD steady Sales, 350 tons; August £23 13/9, Sept. £23 10/-. SPELTER firm. 325 tons sold; June £27 15/-, and Sept. £27 10/- per ton. TINPLATES unaltered.

LONDON FREIGHTS—Tuesday.

Homeward chartering continues on moderate lines, and rates without material alteration in the chief trades. The River Plate section ruled quiet and easier, with handy size vessels loading at upper ports nominally quoted 24/-, and larger vessels 23/-, to U.K.-Continent July-August, while berth parcels are booking at 21/- to U.K.-Continent. Nitrate ports quiet at 26/-, Continent: 5 dollars United States. Montreal to Continent quoted 15 cents, Mediterranean, not east of West Italy, 20 cents, with northern range at 14 and 19 cents, respectively. Gulf grain to Continent indicates 18 cents, August loading, per 100 barrels. North Pacific grain continues to charter at 37/6, September-October, to U.K.-Continent, per ton. Virginia coal moves off quietly, and 4 dollars quoted to lower Plate ports or West Italy, and 4½ dollars Rio de Janeiro. Gulf pitchpine steady at about 135/- per standard to U.K., 180/- River Plate, and Canadian deals 70/- to 72/6, U.K. Outward coal markets show rather more activity. Fixtures—Lursum, 5,000 tons, 10 per cent., San Lorenzo to U.K.-Bordeaux-Hamburg, 2nd to 10th July, 24/-, less 6d., heavy grain; Etna, 6,500 tons, 10 per cent., Rosario to New York, 25th July, cancelling 5½ dollars; Einsuch steamer, 2,500 tons, Tees to New Orleans prompt, 17/6, pig iron.

An old Favourite

An old favourite with all is the Skipper. For he brings those delicious little fish that always make a meal "go down well"; that turn an unappetising breakfast, tea, or supper into a feast fit for a king.

If you've never tasted this "feast," why not buy a tin or two to-day? You'll find if there's one thing as good as "Skippers" packed in purest Olive Oil, it's "Skippers" packed in choice tomato—and both are as good as anything a man could wish to taste.

Reduced Price of New Pack. 9½d. per tin.

The name ANGUS WATSON on any preserved food means the best of its kind.

A delightful 16-page Children's Coloured Picture Book, size 8" x 7", will be sent post free to any purchaser of "Skippers" on receipt of a postcard.

NOXIOUS WEEDS.

TIME TO DESTROY THEM.

The Department of Agriculture and Technical Instruction for Southern Ireland desire to remind all occupiers of land of the necessity for destroying noxious weeds at the earliest possible opportunity this year before they seed.

Not only do such weeds, if allowed to mature, injure the farms on which they propagate themselves by taking the place of useful food or forage plants, but in many cases their seeds, blown by the wind, contaminate the surrounding farms for a considerable distance.

Over the greater part of Ireland certain weeds have now been systematically destroyed for a number of years, and it should be the aim of all occupiers of land to do their part in maintaining and extending the improvement already effected. The farmer who is careless in this respect would do well to recognise the injury which his negligence causes to his neighbours.

WATERFORD.

BEGGAR'S END AGAIN.

ODDS-ON FAVOURITES BEATEN.

There was a far better crowd at Waterford yesterday than on the previous day, and the sport was again of an interesting character; but backers had by no means such a good time, and two very warm favourites in Dorothy Prosper and Belgian Boy met with defeat. The former was beaten by Ironmaster in the Newpark Plate, and there was no fluke about it, for the favourite had every chance had he been good enough, but from inside the distance Ironmaster was always having the better of it, and if they had further to go he would have won even more easily. Belgian Boy, also from Maddenstown Lodge, failed in the Faithlegg Plate, and he was very easily beaten by St. Eminence, who will probably be seen in winning form soon again.

Mr. Parkinson did not leave without a victory, for Fane Lady won the City of Waterford Hurdle, but it took her all her time to beat Belle Field, and had not Cappylass fallen at the second last flight she would probably have beaten the pair, for she was going very well at the time. She was injured in the chest and hind leg, and her rider, D. Colbert, was shaken and taken to hospital, but it is not thought that he is badly injured. Rathcoole, in the hands of C. Aylin, won the Manor Plate in quite ready fashion, but he was rather lucky to score from Tin Hat, who had run well on the previous day, and is one that will likely win a race before long. Cackler ran well, but he never looked like beating the pair that finished in front of him. There was very little to choose between Fly Boy II. and Dilly Wings for the Directors' Plate, but the latter, after making the running until half a mile from home, was beaten and dropped back last. At the second last fence she fell and brought down Beauty's Fancy, and Fly Boy II. finished alone. There were again only three runners for the Williamstown Plate, and for this Beggar's End, who had scored on the previous day, was made an odds-on chance, and, leading throughout, he won in a canter from Brown Queen. SPORTING PARAGRAPHS.

Bucks Hussar will not remain in France for the Prix du President de la Republique.

S. Donoghue will probably ride M. Ambatielos's Zagreus in the Prix du President de la Republique.

Entries for several races at Curragh July Meeting and all races at Limerick Junction July Meeting close to-day.

Lord Glanely's horses left Beckhampton on Monday for Newmarket, where they will be trained for further engagements by Charles Marsh at Lagrange House.

In the race for the Cumberland Plate, Carlisle, yesterday, Shady Lake fell and threw his rider, D. Gordon, who was badly hurt, and removed in an ambulance.

The well-known stallion, Phaleron, was sent up for sale at Tattersall's on Monday, and sold for the small sum of 50 guineas, the fact that he is now 16 years old doubtless accounting for the modest sum realised.

The Grand Prix winner, Kefalin, was bought as a yearling at the Deauville Sales by M. Ambatielos for 112,000fr. He long ago earned his cost price, and on Sunday he added 509,500fr. to his previous winnings. The time was 3 mins. 14 98-100 secs., as against 3 mins. 12 secs. taken by Lemonora last year. The record of 3 mins. 11 3-5 secs. was established by Sardanapale in 1914.

The French sporting Press express much regret that this year's Grand Prix was not more of an international race. Lamenting the absence of representative English horses, the writers pointed out that Bucks Hussar, who came in seventh, and Baton Rouge were in no sense representative of English-bred horses which might have been matched against the best French entries. On the other hand, satisfaction is expressed that for the first time since 1914 the Grand Prix was carried off by a French-bred horse.

YACHTING.

THE CLYDE FORTNIGHT.

CORINTHIAN CLUB REGATTA.

The Clyde Corinthian Club yesterday carried through the fourth day's regatta in the Clyde Yachting Fortnight. They were fortunate in having the best sailing weather yet experienced, and, on the other hand, unfortunate in the respect that, while all the other nine matches finished in sporting conditions, the chief race, over a course of 36 miles, suffered very materially from a breakdown in the weather, which, late in the afternoon changed from a bright atmosphere and a rattling South-Westerly wind to drizzling rain, a thick mist and rapid softening of the breeze. The programme introduced an alteration on the original arrangement of the matches in the continued absence of Terpsichore, which adjusted compasses at Sandbank previous to her departure for the South. It was decided by the officials of the Corinthian Club to bring the cutter Noreen in along with The Lady Anne in the principal race to constitute a yawl race, with Harbinger at scratch, and to have all the cutters in the third handicap competing by themselves. This proved an admitted improvement on what had obtained in the regattas of the Mudhook and the Royal Clyde Clubs, and was, consequently, greatly appreciated by the general body of spectators, who were able to follow the progress of the regatta more intelligently. Details:—

HANDICAP—For yachts exceeding 50 tons T.M. Course—36 miles. Start at 11 a.m.

The Lady Anne (cutter); John M. Robertson; scratch.
Noreen, Bermudian; Fred. Last; 23 mins. 24 secs.

The match opened with a seven miles thresh in a fresh South-Westerly wind and a smooth sea. The Lady Anne led out in a good position at the lee end of the line. A series of five long boards carried the yachts close under the lee of the Skelmorlie Bell Buoy, and then, with a short leg to fetch the mark, they rounded on a gybe with eight minutes less ten seconds in favour of The Lady Anne. A spinnaker run up Channel brought them to Kilcreggan, Noreen losing no more than two minutes on the distance, and at the close of fine tacking to the Commodore there was still something of her allowance unexhausted then. The second round of the course was disastrous for the smaller cutter. The wind held true for a few miles, and the weather below Dunoon underwent no change. The Lady Anne was so well on her journey that she missed to a great extent the wind failure that latterly held up Noreen so badly that she gave up, and reached over from Cloch to the anchorage at Hunter's Quay at five minutes to six. First round:—

	H.	M.	S.
The Lady Anne	1	43	30
Noreen	1	54	40
Finish.
The Lady Anne (winner)	5	2	23

HANDICAP—For yawls. Course—28 miles. Start 11.10.

Harbinger; Sir Thomas Dunlop; scratch.
Pelagia; Mr. Arch. Watson, junior; 16 mins. 20 secs.
Herione; Major Workman; 17 mins. 44 secs.
Rose; Messrs. Hume and Macalla; 21 mins.
Valentine; Mr. W. D. Eckhout; 36 mins. 52 secs.

Finish:—

	H.	M.	S.
Harbinger (second prize)	3	8	35
Rose (winner)	3	28	0
Pelagia (third prize)	3	28	5
Herione	3	33	30

Valentine gave up.

HANDICAP—For yachts not exceeding 35 tons. Course—22 miles. Start 11.20.

Tigris (cutter); Capt. Drury; scratch.
Verve (cutter); Mr. J. H. Bennett; 1 min. 50 secs.
Scoila (cutter); Mr. J. M. H. Dick; 3 mins. 40 secs.
Clio (Bermudian); Mr. Wm. Fife; 40 secs.
Vagrant (cutter); Mr. J. M. Adam; 5 mins. 30 secs.
Ailsa (cutter); Mr. W. F. McCausland; 25 mins. 40 secs.

Finish:—

	H.	M.	S.
Clio (winner)	3	3	35
Verve (third prize)	3	6	32
Tigris	3	9	9
Vagrant (second prize)	3	10	5

The match of the ten six-metre yachts was the best and the closest that has yet taken place. The class were practically together over their twenty miles course, and the finish was:—

	H.	M.	S.
Reg (winner)	3	15	2
Suzette (second prize)	3	1	59
Coila (third prize)	3	2	25
Caryl (fourth prize)	3	3	3
Selene	3	3	20
Polly	3	3	40
Gairney	3	3	58
Ayesha	3	4	10
Shiela	3	5	10
Flya	3	6	10

Other principal winners in their classes were Trasnegh, Dodo II., Dubhsge, Tresta, Moonbeam, and Oread. There were 56 entries for the ten matches and 51 starters.

THE WAG CLUB.

The annual Ballot Race will be sailed this evening round the usual course, first gun 6.30 p.m. The draw for boats resulted as follows:—Wendy, Mr. R. Donnelly; Tomboy, Mr. T. Geoghegan; Vela, Mr. H. F. Wallace; Mollie, Dr. G. P. Meldon; Mary Kate, Mr. A. E. Snow; Blue Bird, Dr. J. T. Wigham; Barbara, Mr. G. A. Newsom; Phyllis, Mr. G. H. Jones; Coquette, Mr. R. Bowen.

LADIES' RACES.—Owners are reminded that the ladies' races will be sailed on the 6th and 13th July.

MOTOR BOATING.

It is interesting to hear that ten power boats have entered for the motor boat race at Seapoint Regatta on Saturday next. There are many who look upon this event as a trial for motor boats at the Tailteann Regatta in August next, and no doubt it will be a distinct help in bringing such craft together.

BRAY HORSE SHOW.

Lord Ardee presided at a largely attended meeting at Bray Town Hall on the evening of Monday, 26th June, when it was unanimously decided to hold an annual horse show in Bray. Special prizes were offered by Captain P. J. Cullen, Mr. David Frame, and the Irish Hunter Stud Book Society, while a large subscription list was announced at the meeting, which adjourned until Monday next, at Bray Town Hall, at 4 p.m., when the date of the show, the site, and the schedule of prizes will be fixed.

NEWMARKET.

THE KING PRESENT.

DEAD-HEAT IN HARE PARK HANDICAP.

Nothing is more enjoyable when the conditions are favourable than racing behind the "Ditch" at Newmarket, but yesterday it was dull, and there was little life about the sport. Still it attracted the usual influential society crowd, including the King, who had motored from town, and who is staying over for the four days of the meeting. There is none of the ceremony of Ascot or Epsom when His Majesty pays a visit to headquarters, and obviously he appreciated the informality which allowed him to saunter about on the plantation side practically without notice.

Major Robertson, one of the starters to whom the Jockey Club is giving a trial, and who has had much experience in India, was officiating at the gate, and, so far as could be seen from the stands and from what one could gather from the jockeys, his efforts were satisfactory. As at present arranged, Captain Allison, the official starter, will be in charge today, whilst Captain Robinson, the Egyptian starter, will officiate on to-morrow. Since the last meeting on the July course several alterations have been effected, including the moving of the principal number board; but this is still unsatisfactorily situated, from the point of view of those stationed on the highest tiers of the stand.

Bantry was at one time a most useful sprinter, but his deterioration was most marked when he failed to finish amongst the first three for the Trial Selling Plate. The race was won by Cortona, who is, perhaps, still something above the plating class, as is suggested by the fact that 860 guineas was paid to buy him in. It was a little singular that Desire, who had been disqualified after dead-heating at Dunstall Park, should again be objected to after dead-heating with Devizes in the Hare Park Handicap. There was a second objection on behalf of Adorna against both the dead-heaters. Desire certainly has a habit of bearing away towards the right, but there did not appear any real grounds for either of the objections, and it would have been surprising had the Stewards upheld either of them. It was really a fine performance on the part of Devizes to get up on the post and make the dead-heat, for 10st. is a big burden even for a horse of his class, and he was giving 35lb. to Desire.

Legality had lost each of the two races in which he had run by a tardy commencement. However, he was expected to win the July Stakes, which is the oldest two-year-old race in existence, having been established over a hundred years ago. Legality now got away all right, but was headed for half the journey by Moabite. He then went to the front, and, though appearing to hang a good deal, scored with a considerable amount in hand, and there can be no question as to his real ability.

Harpenden's second at Ascot to Captain Cuttle was believed to entitle him to preference to the North Derby winner, Captain Fracasse, for the Bottisham Plate. The latter certainly had a stiffer opposition to face than at Gosforth Park, but he is evidently much improved and likes the particularly firm going, and he scored in attractive style.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

Several nice races find a place in to-day's programme at Newmarket, although only the Duke of Cambridge Handicap and the Stud Produce Stakes are events of much importance, and in point of numbers two-year-olds are in a large majority on the card, the Produce entry having originally been no fewer than 179. For 67 the minor forfeit was paid, and the owners of 112 are liable for a further payment of four sovs. per horse. There is a sweepstake; therefore, it can become a race well worth the winning. At the moment of writing I notice among those who stand their ground Pharos (penalised 10lb.), Suryakumari, Cos, Prunus, Atirovaf, Boda colt, and a number of others than can go more than a bit. Should the three first-mentioned meet, the struggle will repay witnessing. Each has yet to be beaten. So far the three last referred to have not put in an appearance. The Duke of Cambridge Handicap may not attract quite the number of competitors to the starting post which was originally expected, owing to the leniency shown by the handicapper to Stratford, whom many of the spectators considered unluckily defeated by Varzy for the Royal Hunt Cup, in which Leighton, Crubenmore, and Invergarry, who run to-day, also took part. Stratford may win here, and Invergarry should run into a place. Selections:—

Plantation Stakes (Div. I.)—Golden Mesh.
Plantation Stakes (Div. II.)—Bellchase colt.
Duke of Cambridge Handicap—Stratford.
Soham Stakes—Double Bloom.
Stud Produce Stakes—Cos.
Stetchworth Stakes—Bhuidhoanach.

ATHLETICS.

SOUTHERN BRANCH I.A.A.A.

At a special general meeting of the Southern Branch of the I.A.A.A., Mr. J. T. Graham (President) in the chair, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

"That the Southern Branch approves of the recommendations of the General Committee of the I.A.A.A. to be considered at the special general meeting to be held on July 1st." "That, in the event of the special general meeting of the I.A.A.A. coming to a decision adverse to the recommendations of the General Committee, the Southern Branch is of opinion that, in the interest of athletics in the area under its control, the clubs constituting the branch should seek membership of the National Athletic and Cycling Association."

CIVIL SERVICE ATHLETIC UNION.

In 1913 the Irish Civil Service held an athletic carnival at Ballsbridge, and it was then the intention to hold similar gatherings annually. However, owing to unsettled conditions, it was found impossible to do so, but the newly-formed Civil Service Athletic Union are holding, on Saturday next, at Lansdowne road, their first annual sports meeting, and it is hoped that this meeting will prove to be the re-birth of Civil Service sport in Ireland. The number of competitors will prove to be a record one, and if the weather is good on Saturday next it is anticipated that this meeting will be a great success.

CARLISLE.

GOOD FIELDS AND FINISHES.

SPITHEAD WINS THE CUMBERLAND PLATE.

The Summer fixture at Carlisle opened under conditions which were in contrast to last week's sport elsewhere, for, while the weather in the morning was all that could be desired, rain came on just as the runners went out for the first race, the Carlisle Plate, wherein the Pretty Polly colt was made an odds-on favourite. He got tardily away from the gate, however, and never had a chance, the spoils going to the Thermia filly, on whom Thwaites timed his effort to a nicety. Spratadale won the Solway Selling Plate, George McCall playing the waiting-in-front game all the way from the start.

The Cumberland Plate was productive of startling incidents. First La Gasse bolted on the way to the post, jumped the rails, and fell, but was pluckily remounted. Shortly after the start Shady Lake fell, West Countryman was knocked over, and Woodrow and Weathertide also came down, all the riders escaping injury except Gordon on Shady Lake. Spithead won the spoils for Lord Derby, Weston riding a well-judged finish to overhaul Stick in the Mud and win by a neck.

Masterpiece registered a double for Bazley's stable by taking the Trial Selling Plate in ready style. The Holm Hill Handicap went to the Malton-trained Springdale; and in the Apprentices' Race Damar struggled home a short head in front of Mayfly.

The Stewards held an inquiry into the Cumberland Plate mishaps, and decided that the spills were purely accidental.

SELECTIONS FOR TO-DAY.

The Cumberland Plate was unsatisfactory, in so far as the chances of four horses at least were destroyed. It ended in a popular victory for Lord Derby, and gave backers the only good deal of the day. There is nothing out of the ordinary in to-day's card, the Corby Castle Plate being the more important event. It may not, however, furnish such good sport as the Blackhall Handicap. In the two-year-old event Su Su, so far unbeaten with four wins to her credit, has Courier (three times second) to beat. Phantom Cynnie, who apparently represents Peacock's stable in preference to Scarba, has won once this season, but I think the best form is represented by Courier, in spite of Su Su's unbeaten certificate. Several in the Blackhall Handicap ran yesterday. They are likely to be seen in service again, but I will pass them over in favour of Antranik. In the Devonshire Plate Antranik also appears, but amateurs will be seen in the saddle in some cases, and I am advised that Abbot of Jervaulx is likely to win. His form is good enough. Selections:—

City Plate—J. Renwick's selected.
Devonshire Plate—Abbot of Jervaulx.
Corby Castle Plate—Courier.
Bective Plate—J. Renwick's selected.
Blackhall Plate—J. Renwick's selected.

NEWMARKET SALES.

FEW BUYERS.

The catalogue for the sales in the Park Paddock at the First July Meeting is scarcely so heavy as usual, and is entirely confined to yearlings, so it was not, therefore, thought necessary to make a start until yesterday evening, when Messrs. Tattersall offered about twenty-eight lots. There was a large attendance, but few buyers, the top price being only 710 guineas.

CAMBRIDGE'S EASY DEFEAT OF OXFORD.

Cambridge gained an easy victory over Oxford in the annual swimming races held at the Bath Club yesterday evening. The Light Blues won the races by three events to nil, and the water polo by three goals to two.

In the 100 yards race they gained first and second places, a performance which they repeated in the 50 yards and quarter-mile. A. W. R. McKellar won the 100 yards easily in 63 2-5 secs., and was second to A. S. Davidson in the 50 yards, the latter covering the distance in 27 2-5 secs. The quarter-mile was a runaway affair, I. D. Hayward, who won by six yards in 6 mins. 26 3-5 secs., overlapping both the Oxford men at the end of the sixteenth length.

Cambridge led by three goals to nil at the interval in the water polo match, G. H. Day scoring all; but on changing ends H. L. Price reduced the margin, and later Abernethy scored a second goal.

GOLF.

PROFESSIONALS AT DUN LAOGHAIRE.

GOOD SCORING BY HOLLEY.

With the conditions favourable for golf, the scores returned at Dun Laoghaire yesterday in the first round of the competition for Sir Stanley Cochrane's prizes were somewhat disappointing, but so far as the leading players were concerned there was a marked improvement in the afternoon. In the morning the best score was returned by Holley, whose 71 was three better than the figures of M. O'Neill, A. J. Marriott, and J. Quinn, the last two of whom are newcomers to the ranks of the Leinster professionals. They, however, failed to reproduce their forenoon form on the concluding round, each finishing in the eighties, while O'Neill ended one stroke worse for an aggregate of 149, figures which were easily beaten by Holley, whose 69 was the outstanding feature of the day. He started his second round with a 5, but from that on he played excellent golf, and, turning in 34, required only 35 on the way home, although he was bunkered off his second shot to the 18th, which cost him 5. His card read:—

Out .... 543444244 = 34
In .... 345433445 = 35
69

Another fine score was Sullivan's 70, but in the morning he required 80, which extinguished his chance of getting into the prize list. His 70 was made up as follows:—

Out .... 454444334 = 35
70

Martin would have done better than 76 in the morning, but for a misfortune at the 16th, where his tee shot reached the green, but finished up out of bounds on the road. Subsequently he turned in 33, playing fine golf out, but he had a couple of lapses on the way home, and the round was completed in 72. Out of bounds was frequent during the day, M'Dermott, Sheridan, Martin, Smyth, Marriott, Sullivan, and Shannon paying the penalty; indeed, Smyth had a trying time of it, being "out" at the 15th, 17th, and 18th in the forenoon. On the whole, the golf was not as good as usual in these competitions. The aggregates were:—

W. Holley (Castle), +1	71	69	141
J O'Neill (unattached)	76	72	148
J. Martin (Milltown), +1	76	72	149

As the result of the first day's play in the French Open Championship, which consisted of 36 of 72 holes, which decides the Championship, on the La Boulie Links, Aubery Boomer (holder) led the field by two strokes, with a total of 148. He had two great rounds of 74 each. At the end of the first round Boomer and Eugene Lafitte held the joint lead, but the latter required 76 in the afternoon.

The leading scores and aggregates were:—Aubrey Boomer (Paris), 74, 74, 148; Angel de la Torre (Madrid), 75, 75, 150; Eugene Lafitte (Biarritz), 74, 76, 150; Havers (West Lancs.), 75, 76, 151; C. STOCKS STEADY.

A GOOD CLOSE.

(FROM OUR FINANCIAL CORRESPONDENT AND THE "FINANCIAL NEWS" OF TO-DAY.)

Carry-over arrangements chiefly absorbed the attention of dealers yesterday morning, but the adjustment of the account was got through easily. In contrast with the previous fortnightly account, it is of fairly light proportions. The Gilt-edged group was steady to firm all day, Conversion Loan being the chief attraction. Towards the close the market firmed up considerably, and after official hours several stocks changed hands at advanced prices. India stocks were mostly better. Home Railway prior charge securities evinced a disposition to harden, although there was very little business in this direction. Foreign Rails were extremely good, most stocks showing a rise of from 1 to 2 points. A fairly good tendency was exhibited generally by Foreign Bonds and Turkish Unified, were a prominent feature.

LONDON STOCKS DULL.

ARGENTINE RAILS AN EXCEPTION

The Stock markets were very dull yesterday, and the arrangement of the carry-over did not even impart an air of activity. A satisfactory feature, however, was an improvement in gilt-edged securities; while there was something of a demand manifest for South Africa gold shares. Towards the close there was a slight improvement in the general tone. Consols closed unchanged, as did the 5 p.c. War Loan. The 3½ p.c. War Loan rose ⅛ to 95. The Funding Loan at 86½, Victory Bonds at 88¾, and the Conversion Loan at 75¾, each rose ¼. Treasury Bonds gained ¼ to 109, Local Loans ½ to 64½, and Irish Land Stock 1 to 59. Some of the new issues were as follows:—Antofagasta Nitrate Debs. 1 prem., Brazil 7½ p.c. 3 prem., British-Guiana 5½ p.c. ¼ prem., Calcutta 6 p.c. ½ dis., Calcutta Trams Debs. 2½ prem., Compagnie Generale Transatlantique 7 dis., Chargeurs Reunis 8 dis., Danish New 2½ dis., India New ¼ dis.-¼ prem., Indian Electric Debs. ½ prem., Madras Electric Debs. ¼ dis.-¼ prem., Metropolitan Pref. 3¾ prem., N. S. Wales 4½ p.c. 5 dis., New Zealand 6 p.c. ½ prem., P. and O. Debs., 3¾ prem., Powell Duffryn 6½ prem., Prague 3 dis., Straits Loan 3 dis.

FOREIGN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES were very dull. French Loans were unaltered, as were German Threes. Mexicans were weaker, the Fives at 63½, and the Fours also at 63½, both falling a point.

HOME RAILS had rather a good opening, but it was not held, and the close was heavy. Brighton A exceptionally fell 1½ to 59½. Great Northern Def. fell ½ to 40½, Metropolitan ½ to 45; Chatham Ord. at 9½ lost ½, and Great Central Def. ¼ to 9. Great Western rose ½ to 102½, and London and North-Western ½ to 100½. London and South-Western at 29½, and Midland Def. at 65½, both gained ½.

In COLONIAL AND FOREIGN RAILWAYS the feature was the strength of the recovery in Argentines. B.A.G.S. rose 2 to 74, Pacifics 2 to 48½, Westerns 2½ to 69, and Centrals 1½ to 65½. Argentine Great Western Ord. rose 1 to 62. United of Havana added 2 to 63, Entre Rios Ord. gained a point at 16, and the Pref. a point at 48. Leopoldina rose 1 to 30½. Americans were uncertain. Atchison fell 1 to 111½. New York Ontario 1 to 29 and Union Pacific 1 to 156. Missouri gained a point at 13.

OIL SHARES FIRMER.

A TAME CARRY-OVER.

Business in Oil shares during the account now in course of settlement has been of a quiet character, and the carrying over yesterday proved to be a very tame affair, although some dealers reported a slight increase in the open position. The general rate for the continuation of bargains was 5½ to 6½ per cent. Royal Dutch and Mexican Eagles, however, were done at 3 to 4 per cent., and Shells, which at first were 4 to 5 per cent., hardened to 5½ to 6½ per cent., and remained "givers." The carry-over was easily arranged. With the commencement of business for the new account, the market had a slightly more active appearance than of late, although attention was directed mainly to the leaders and a few specialities, among which an improving tendency was noticeable. Price movements were not of much importance, but a fair number of small gains resulted from the day's business. Overnight prices from New York were firm, and the leading issues had a steady appearance at the opening, while advices from that centre in the afternoon were favourable, particularly in the case of Royal Dutch. There was practically nothing doing on Paris account. Rumanian issues came into prominence, and there was a revival of interest in Uroz, V.O.C. Holdings, and British Controlled, while investment buying was in progress of Anglo-Persian Prefs. and Debs. Among leaders, Royal Dutch opened at 40¼, and improved to 40½, which left them unchanged on the day. Shells touched 4 15/16, and were finally 1/16 up at 4 11/16. The 5 per cent. Prefs. remained at 9⅜, and the 7 per cent. 2nd Prefs. closed at 23s. 1½d. Mexican Eagles kept within narrow limits, but finished with a gain of 1/16 at 3⅛, while the 8 per cent. Prefs. left off without alteration. Burmahs, which at one time were as good as 5 7/16, the shares being in demand in anticipation of the dividend announcement which is due to-day, closed at 5⅜, which left them 1/16 better on balance. The 8 per cent. Prefs. remained steady at 25s. 6d. Anglo-Persian Ord. receded 1/16 to 5, but the 8 per cent. and 9 per cent. Pref. hardened to 25s. 6d. and 26s. 1½d., respectively, and the 5 per cent. Debs. rose ¼. Closing prices.

FINANCIAL PARAGRAPHS.

Yesterday the fortnightly settlement commenced in general markets, and, despite cheaper money, the speculative account to be arranged has been comparatively small and easy of adjustment. Home Rails and a few specialities in the Industrial market received chief attention, and it would appear that the somewhat heavy bull account in Home Rails shown at the last carry-over has been reduced to reasonable proportions.

Although details of the rate increases granted the Argentine Railway companies are still awaited, advices to hand indicate that the railway companies are getting all they expected from the Technical Commission. It was a foregone conclusion that the rates would not be raised on the carriage of cattle. That industry is still in a parlous condition throughout the Republic, and to add to the railway tariff at the present juncture would kill off what little business remains. The market is hopeful in respect of the new President and the forthcoming Government. While, therefore, the various Argentine Railway Stocks have not displayed anything like activity, owing to the meagreness of the news, the outlook is considered to be distinctly favourable. Argentine interests in London express satisfaction at the decree just promulgated.

Just at this time many companies are preparing their interest and dividend warrants for six months ending June 30th. As the rate of income tax has been reduced from 6/- to 5/- in the £ as from the 6th of April, it is important that the actual rates in force during that period should be reckoned when deducting. The Financial Times has prepared a table giving, in a simple and very ascertainable form, the exact amount to be deducted from dividend payments of any amount up to £1,000. By adopting this exact method rather than averaging, there is a saving to companies of ½ per cent. Many secretaries have testified to the usefulness of this table, which may be had from the publishers at 72 Coleman street, London, E.C. 2 (2/3 postage free).

The transfer books of the Dublin United Tramways Company will be closed from the 6th to 19th July, both days inclusive.

LONDON MINING MARKET STRONG.

"KAFFIRS" FIRM AND HIGHER.

In the Mining market conspicuous firmness was observable; in fact, the Kaffir section was described as the brightest in the "House." Evidences are steadily accumulating of an improvement in industrial conditions on the Rand, and a substantial reduction in working costs is probable in the near future. The improving prospects are being gradually more widely recognised, and shrewd investors are quietly picking up the good-class shares. Yesterday some fairly large buying orders reached the market, and it was quickly discovered that floating supplies were none too plentiful. Far Eastern descriptions, in particular, were well supported, and under the lead of Geduld, Government Mines, and Modderfontein, prices went ahead in no uncertain fashion. Rand Mines, "Johnnies," Randfontein, Union Corporation, and several others appreciated, while the whole list exhibited buoyancy, and not a single shrinkage could be recorded. In the circumstances, a drop of 8d. to 93s. 4d. per ounce in the price of gold passed unnoticed. Cape advices were of an encouraging character, but Paris was still under the influence of political happenings and the approach of the end month settlement. The tone at the close was distinctly hopeful. Closing prices:—

INDUSTRIALS HARDER.

BUSINESS SLIGHT.

Operators in the Miscellaneous and Industrial markets yesterday found little to occupy their attention, apart from the arrangements for the carry-over, which was easily completed. The general rate on Industrials was 5 to 6 p.c.; while at the opening Courtaulds commanded from 6 to 7 p.c., but later in the day the rate dwindled to 4 p.c. Both in the case of Courtaulds and Imperial Tobaccos there was a large number of "takers in." Business for the new account continued on a small scale, but towards the close a slightly harder tendency was noticeable, and except in the case of Marconis, which further receded, most of the leaders had a firmer appearance.

In the Textile section Courtaulds put on 6d. to 50s., and Coats recovered to 61s. 6d. ex div. Dyestuffs Pref. strengthened to 6s. On the other hand, however, Sewing Cottons fell 1s. to 41s. 3d., and Fine Spinners and Listers 6d. each to 39s. and 26s. respectively. Amalgamated Cottons keep firm at 14s. Stores descriptions mostly remained steady at previous levels. John Barkers, however, lost 3d. at 42s. 3d., and Army and Navy Co-operative receded to 22s. Among Iron and Steel undertakings Swan Hunters further declined to 32s. 6d., United Steels eased to 10s. 6d., and Baldwins to 18s. 6d., though the Debs. rose to 108. Sheffield Steels firmed up to 3s. 6d., and Bolckow Vaughans improved to £1; while Chinese Engineering put on 1/16 to 3 1/16. Vickers kept at 11s. 9d., and Armstrongs at 17s. 9d. Shipping issues showed little of interest. Bank shares held their gains of the previous day. Nitrates were on the dull side.

Fresh weakness was displayed by Marconis in the Wireless group, the quotation closing 1/16 lower at 2⅜: the Prefs., however, held their ground at 2 3/16, and Marines at 1 9/16. Sudan Plantations were not so good at 3 15/16. Forestals kept at 17s. 6d. Caterers ruled steady at previous levels, and apart from a fall of ½ to 12½ ex div. in Liebigs, the same applied to Foodstuff issues. In the Brewery list Ind Coope 5 p.c. Prior Lien Debs. rose 1 to 90½, but South African Prefs. fell 1/16 to ⅞. Hoare Ord. continued at 10, and Meux Pref. at 7½. Among Canadian-American issues Brazilian Tractions fell 1½ to 51, and Cities Services lost 10 points at 250. Renewed strength was exhibited by B.A.T. and Imperials in the Tobacco group. The former finished 6d. higher at 77s. 3d. ex div., and the latter improved to 61s. 9d., or 3d. better on the day. Canadians showed no change at 20s. 9d. ex div. Changes in the Miscellaneous trading list were mostly unimportant. Cements further eased to 16s. 3d., though the Prefs. continued at 17s. 3d., and British Portlands at 23s. 6d. Dunlops held their ground at 8s. 7½d.; Borax Deferred rose 1/16 to 1½, and Brunner Monds recovered to 28s. 9d. British Aluminiums strengthened to 18s. 3d., and Oil Cakes to 26s. 3d.; while Lever 7 and 8 p.c. Prefs. kept firm at 19s. 9d. British Glass were an active market, and changed hands at up to 4s. 1½d., though closing without quotable alteration at 3s. 9d.

ALDERSHOT COMMAND HORSE SHOW.

The Aldershot Command Horse Show opened yesterday, splendid weather attending the event. So far as entries were concerned, the show was a record one, the number of civilian entries being larger than before. The principal item of an interesting programme was the International Military Ride, from Windsor to Aldershot, a distance of 19 miles. This was won by Lieutenant Burly, Netheravon Riding School, on "Boy," Lieutenant Buffin, Brussels, being second, Lieutenant Knel, Holland, third, and Captain Gill, Carabiniers, fourth. An excellent military competitions took place during the day.

THE MONEY MARKET.

LOANABLE CREDITS EASIER

With Monday's window-dressing money being released, the position of loanable credit was much more satisfactory from the point of view of borrowers; while discounts, in which business was very small, were inclined to anticipate the changed monetary position at the turn of the half-year and Bank rate possibilities. Money into next month was in good demand up to 2½ p.c.; while fixtures were going on at 2 p.c. Balances for the night, after being 2 p.c., came on offer at lower rates. The tendency of discounts was by no means steady, and although transactions were limited there was a general disposition to anticipate the turn of the month. Ordinary fine three months' bills, although commonly quoted 2¼, 2 5/16 p.c., were barely steady. Second-hand Treasuries were 2 5/16, 2 5/16 p.c. Forward business for bills deliverable next week was being discussed at a lower basis.

Bank Rate (Discount) changed June 15, 1922, 3½%.

60 days (fine)	2¼	2⅜%
3 months „		2⅜%	Trade 3	3½%
4 months „	2¼	2⅜%	„ 3	3½%
6 months „	2⅜	2½%	„ 3½	4%
Loans to brokers day-to-day				2 %
„ for a week				2½%
Deposit allowance: Banks at call				1½%
„ „ Discount houses, at call				1¾%
„ „ „ at notice				1⅞%

Gold reacted 8d. to 93s. 4d. Bar silver rose ⅛d. for both spot and forward delivery to 36⅛d. per oz.

There was a better tendency in the foreign exchange market, owing principally to sterling's overnight rally in New York, the rate being 4.41⅜-4.41½. Germany was much more settled and steady at 1,530-1,535; while French francs, after picking up, reacted to 52.70-52.75, Belgium being 54.40-55.45 and Italy 92⅝-92⅞. Rupees further improved to 1s. 3 5/32d. There was no recovery in Norwegian kroner, quoted 27.32-27.37; while Holland cheapened to 11.51-11.52, Switzerland being 23.27-23.31. Austrian crowns remained at 80,000-84,000, although the new scheme is coming into operation with the turn of the month; while Poland was 19,000-20,000. Finnish marks were dearer at 190-195. COMPANY MEETINGS.

MELLIN'S FOOD.

The 26th annual general meeting was held at the Company's Offices, Peckham, yesterday. Mr. G. L. Mellin, the Chairman, in moving the adoption of the report and accounts, said: The balance sheet showed a profit of £10,970, after making all provision for taxation and all advertising charges. The investments were taken at the prices ruling on the 31st March last, since when they have increased in value. The goodwill account had been reduced by £7,006. He regretted that 50 per cent. of the profits of the Company were absorbed by taxation. The directors trusted that the coming years would bring substantial relief in this direction. Trade was very difficult during the past year, especially the export trade. A favourable feature was the probability that raw materials would continue to decline in price. The report was seconded by Dr. J. J. Pilley and carried unanimously. A dividend of 4 per cent. on the Ordinary Shares was declared.

LYDENBURG (TRANSVAAL) GOLD EXPLORATION COMPANY.

The 25th ordinary general meeting was held yesterday at the Cannon street Hotel, London. Mr. M. T. Brown, who presided, said that the past year, as everyone familiar with South African affairs knew, had been a very difficult one for a Company such as this, with trading, agricultural, and cattle-breeding interests, and in view of the diminished buying capacity of the natives and others, it was not astonishing that they had suffered, as so many other companies had done, in reduced income. A comparison of the balance sheet figures showed a further improvement in the value of the liquid and floating assets, partly due to the increased market value of their investments. The loan on mortgage on the farm, Branddraai, had been only slightly reduced during the year, the dates for the payment of instalments having been extended in view of the fact that the farmers had been passing through a very bad time. In this they were simply falling into line with many of the other land companies, who had found it policy not to press too hardly on the purchasers of their farms. The directors had hoped to announce the sale of another of the Company's farms, but the protracted negotiations which had taken place had not yet come to fruition. Their policy had been, and would continue to be, to sell the farms as and when opportunity afforded and a suitable price was offered—in other words, to convert fixed assets into liquid assets. The land market, however, had been under a cloud for the past two years, and it was impossible to forecast how long the present condition of things was likely to last. Meanwhile, they could not press sales, and must be content to wait until the demand for land again arose. They all hoped that this renewed demand would come about with the improved industrial position now prevailing. The report was unanimously adopted.

JOHN BROWN AND CO.

The annual meeting of shareholders of John Brown and Co., Ltd., was held yesterday at the Royal Victoria Hotel, Sheffield. Lord Aberconway presided, and in moving the adoption of the report said his remarks on the general situation would be rather of a negative character, as they had very little of a positive character to go upon except the undoubted fact that they had just closed the worst year in the history of the company that he could remember, though he was not sure that the present year would not be quite as bad. Lately there had been a considerable decrease in prices all round as compared with those of the Continent, and that was a very hopeful sign, which he should have thought impossible twelve months ago. Last year English basic pig was being offered at £9 per ton, as compared with Belgian pig in this country at £5 per ton. Now English pig had been got down to £4 10s. There was no profit in this, but they had to quote these prices in order to maintain what trade there was. By next January they might see something distinctly better. Before that he did not anticipate any better financial results.

TRAINING COLLEGE PRIZE DAY.

A distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Pembroke Kindergarten and Training College last evening was preceded by an enjoyable concert. A number of dramatic and pianoforte recitals were given by the children and a short French sketch. The Chairman, Mr. T. G. Aston, congratulated Miss Hoy, the principal, on the display of the pupils, and on the ability of her assistants to interest, as well as to instruct, the pupils. The report of the session was read by Miss Hoy, who said that they were always ready to adopt new methods, to give the children the benefit of new educational ideas.
